Firemen Give In, CNR Strike Off

Union Got Little

OTTAWA (UPI) — The firemen's union last night gave in to the Canadian National Railways on the diesel issue, thus averting a nation-wide strike called for later in the week.

Labor Minister Michael Starr announced settlement of the dispute after two days of discussions with CNR president Donald Gordon and W. E. Gamble, Canadian head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

NEW DEFEAT

The CNR president's outline made it clear that the railway had scored an almost complete victory. It marked the second straight defeat for the firemen who lost a similar battle to the CPR a year ago.

On the main point of the dispute—a CNR decision to begin Friday the gradual elimination of firemen from yard and freight diesels—the railway won a complete victory. The two sides agreed, however, to meet a Kellock Royal Commission and Federal Conciliation Board report recommendation that, while the railway will hire no new firemen for this purpose, none of the 2,800 now on yard and freight service will be fired.

The CNR yielded to some extent in the battle over "arbitraries"—time spent working on diesels before and after runs. The railway will in future pay such work on a minute-to-minute basis instead of the flat rate now in effect.

The one real concession made the union was in regard to wages. The wage increases will total 9.5 per cent as offered previously by the railway, but more of the increases will be granted immediately than previously were offered.

'Golden Age' For B.C.

Golden age of industry opened for B.C. yesterday with announcement by Premier Bennett that giant iron and steel smelter was to be built at once at Kimberley. Eventually, said Mr. Bennett, B.C.'s industrial potential will surpass that of Quebec and Ontario. (Full details on page 10.)

U.S. LEADERSHIP SUSPECT--MONTY

Americans Must Be Europe 'Hostages'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery told Americans yesterday that their soldiers were expected to stay in Europe as "hostages" to prove that American blood will be shed on the first day of the next war.

"If there should be a rough-house in Europe, the United States must be in it from the word go—not like it happened in the past," Montgomery said. "In other words, American blood must be shed on the first day."

Montgomery was interviewed by Edward R. Murrow and Charles Collingwood at the 72-year-old Second World War hero's home in Hampshire, England, before leaving for Moscow on a private visit.

MacARTHUR PRAISED

On the program, Montgomery praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "far and away the best service chief that America produced in the Second World War."

He said Eisenhower, as supreme allied commander in Europe, apparently did not understand the allied Normandy battle plan after he approved it.

"That's one of the mysteries of the war, to me, why it was he didn't understand it," Montgomery said.

The general also said that Eisenhower's leadership as president had been impaired by poor health.

JOB FOR FRENCHMAN

Montgomery proposed that the supreme commander in western Europe, who heads the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, should be a French general with a German under him. The present leader is an American.

He also suggested that the chief NATO power be placed in the hands of the political head, the secretary general, instead of the top military men.

"I think that history is going to say the United States' leadership has been very intermittent in its pulsations—it has not been as good as it might be," he said.

RATHER 'SUSPECT'

"Perhaps there's been a lack of decision in the top level. Anyway, it's—I think you've got to admit the fact, rightly or wrongly that American leadership, of recent years, has been rather suspect."

He said someone should come forward and serve as "a sort of moral broker" in international affairs. That, he said, is what Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is trying to do.

Montgomery went at some length into the health of U.S. leaders.

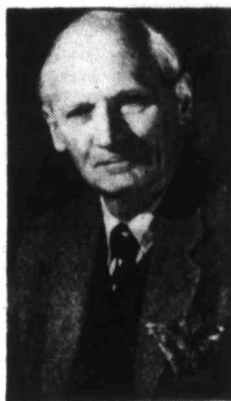

"Mr. Dulles, whom I . . . like very much indeed . . . he's in the hospital with cancer."

HERTER ON CRUTCHES

"Your president has had three very serious illnesses—very serious."

"The head of your state department, today, (Christian A. Herter) walks about on two crutches."

" . . . I know, awfully well, from my life as a military person, that you can't win battles unless you are feeling very well. It can't be done."

Moscow Mission Begins

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery arrived Tuesday night on a self-appointed mission to Moscow and was immediately informed he will meet Premier Khrushchev this morning.

He stepped off a Russian plane from Paris hatless and dressed in an old British army overcoat. He spent five minutes at the airport in light-hearted badinage with his wartime comrade-in-arms, Marshal Vassili Sokolovsky, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces.

A harried British embassy official injected the only rough note when he asked Montgomery for his passport.

Montgomery waved his hand and admitted, "I don't have it."

Montgomery and Sokolovsky arranged to meet this morning but plans were changed after a British embassy official whispered in Montgomery's ear: "You are seeing Khrushchev in the morning."

Montgomery is here for three days to study the East-West conflict.

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Magistrate John F. MacDonald Tuesday reserved judgment after hearing final testimony in the trial of Cmdr. George M. Wadds, charged with theft of a $450 pump while he was commander of the nearby Point Edward Naval Base.

Cmdr. Wadds pleaded not guilty to theft of the pump from a reserve fleet coastal escort in 1958. He also entered a not guilty plea Tuesday to a charge of stealing a refrigerator door. Hearing of the second charge will continue today. No plea has been entered on a third theft count.

Defence counsel Roland Ritchie of Sydney said in his summation that none of the 16 witnesses said anything that "even remotely linked Wadds with the theft of the pump."

"The fact that it was later discovered in the custody of Wadds," Ritchie claimed, "in no way indicates he was responsible for its theft."

Canada May Store Atomic Warheads

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada-United States discussions aimed at agreement on storage of American nuclear warheads in this country now are in progress, it was learned Tuesday.

Officials said it probably will be several weeks, however, before the talks reach cabinet level and an agreement is signed.

Though Canadian armed forces will be supplied with nuclear weapons, the ownership and custody of the warheads will remain with the U.S.

This in turn may lead to a small increase in the number of American servicemen stationed in Canada. They now number approximately 8,000.

The U.S. is expected to bear the cost of the warheads, estimated at about $100,000,000.

The nuclear warheads are intended primarily for use in the American Bomarc anti-aircraft missile scheduled to come into operational use with the RCAF in 1961.

But the warheads also will be for the American Lacrosse ground-to-ground missile for the Canadian Army, a few of which are scheduled for delivery this year.

Mayor's Shares Probed

EDMONTON (CP) — Mayor William Hawrelak told the Porter commission Tuesday that he and his family have acquired a total of 2,550 Alberta Gas Trunk Line shares.

(See also Page 3)

Testifying before the civic inquiry into charges of maladministration, Mr. Hawrelak said he did not think there had been a restriction on the number of shares allotted to each buyer.

The largest single allotment to the Hawrelak family—340 shares—came through the main branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada.

Mr. Justice M. M. Porter, who is conducting the inquiry, said he recalls the allocation was determined by dividing the number of available shares by the number of applications.

This resulted in a "figure of 20 or 25 or something of the sort, so that when you were applying you had no idea what you were going to get."

Case in Supreme Court

Was Sommers 'Official' or Not?

OTTAWA (UPI) — Legal counsel for Robert Sommers maintained before the Supreme Court of Canada yesterday that there is no Criminal Code section under which the former British Columbia forest minister can be charged with accepting bribes.

Lawyer J. R. Nicholson told the seven presiding scarlet-robed justices that a "most exhaustive search" of records disclosed no case of a cabinet minister being convicted of bribery during the past two centuries.

Nicholson made the appeal at a last-ditch hearing to get the bribery and conspiracy convictions of Sommers and timber executive H. Wilson

Gray quashed by the highest court in the land. He based his appeal on the definition of the word "official." He claimed that an official, as stated in the Criminal Code, does not include cabinet ministers as they form a part of government.

Nicholson maintained that the new Criminal Code, revised several years ago, was even more specific about the definition of "official" than was the old code under which Sommers was tried.

Justice R. Taschereau asked if Nicholson was saying that a cabinet minister could accept bribes under the old Criminal Code.

"That's my submission, sir," the lawyer replied.

Edmonton Probe Opens

Rezoning Move Hiked Value of Mayor's Land

EDMONTON (CP) — Two pieces of property in which Mayor William Hawrelak has financial interest came under scrutiny of the civic inquiry into accusations of civic maladministration Tuesday.

One was a 26-acre parcel along the Calgary trail at Edmonton's southern boundary, the other a hotel site in the northeastern section of the city.

The inquiry, being heard by Justice M. M. Porter, will continue today.

FAMILY COMPANY

Mayor Hawrelak told the commission he bought the Calgary trail property in May of last year, through Metropolitan Investments Limited, a company owned by him and his wife.

The mayor said he formed the company in January of 1958 "for the purpose of acquiring a revenue producing property in the city."

"My reason for doing this was so that my children could have an equity in the property."

The 26 acres, 16 acres of it inside the city limits and 10 outside, was purchased from Canadian Breweries for $213,000.

At the time of the purchase the property was zoned for heavy industry. A section of it later was rezoned for motel and service station use.

OLD DENTISTS

Major shareholders in the new, city centre motel are brothers-in-law of Mayor Hawrelak.

E. H. Leger, spokesman for the petitioners who requested the hearing, owns a motel directly across the highway from the rezoned property.

Mr. Leger and other motel operators in the area said they were promised when they bought their land that the area across the highway would not be rezoned for motel use.

Mayor Hawrelak said that since the time of purchase he has sold one acre, for a service station, to Canadian Oil Companies Limited, for $25,000; two acres to City Centre Motel for $30,000, and five acres to Loblaws Groceries for $100,000.

PORTIONS LEASED

He has leased three portions of the property outside the city limits.

The other piece of property, slated for a hotel site, also had to be rezoned, from semi-agricultural to business.

This was done on Oct. 3, 1956. Mayor Hawrelak said under examination by commission counsel William Morrow he acquired an interest in the property on Oct. 4, 1956.

Later that year a section of the property was rezoned for use as a service station, which has since been built. The hotel still is not finished.

Motel Site Just Perfect For Sleepless Nights

EDMONTON (CP)—Mr. Justice M. M. Porter indicated at Edmonton's civic inquiry Tuesday he doesn't have a very high opinion of motels.

During testimony concerning a motel site on the city's southern boundary, Mr. Justice Porter—looking at a map of the area—said:

"It looks like an ideal motel site. I see it's right between the railroad tracks and the main highway—guaranteeing no one will be able to sleep."

Added commission counsel William Morrow: "I think it is also on the main take-off lane for flights to Calgary."

Scientists Alarmed by Rise Of Strontium in Infant Bones

NEW YORK (UPI) — An alarming rise in the absorption of Strontium 90 in the bones of children under four years old in the United States is disclosed in a new report by a team of American scientists.

The report may set off fireworks at joint congressional hearings early next month on radioactive fallout.

Strontium 90 is regarded as the most dangerous fallout product of nuclear test explosions. It can cause cancer and leukemia.

The new report is based on a very small number of cases reported from large U.S. cities.

Dr. Laurence J. Kulp of Columbia University, who headed the team making the report, found that in the cases examined, the Strontium 90 concentration in the bones of the young children indicated an average increase from 0.37 in 1954 to 1.33 in 1957.

Cabinet and the Law

THE fact that Leo Mantha has been hanged does not detract from the validity of Mr. Justice Manson's comment on the practice of the present federal cabinet of granting commutation of death sentences passed on murderers in Canada. His Lordship has since been rebuked by Justice Minister Fulton for his criticism of the government's clemency policy. Mr. Fulton is reported to have stated in Ottawa that if the judge made the comment attributed to him "it went beyond the authority of the one making it."

That is a matter of opinion; but the fact remains that Mr. Justice Manson said no more than many others have said from time to time, since it began to look as if the Dominion cabinet was using its power of reprieve to over-ride the statute. This newspaper made almost precisely the same observation some months ago, and press comment of a similar nature has been widespread.

Furthermore, from the practice of commutation by cabinet decree there may be drawn the wholly false inference that judges who pass the sentence of death are unduly harsh. Uninformed members of the public who read of cabinet sparing a man from execution may not be aware of the fact that when a jury returns a verdict of murder the presiding judge has no alternative but to sentence the prisoner to be hanged, no matter the circumstances in which the murder was committed or the degree of provocation which may have existed. It may have been this which prompted Mr. Justice Manson to say that the practice was not fair to juries or trial judges and that if the law were wrong it should be corrected by Parliament, not by cabinet decree over-riding Parliament.

The execution of Mantha following the cabinet's refusal to intervene between him and the gallows fails to dispel belief that the government does not subscribe to the law as it stands. In Mantha's case extenuating circumstances were absent and the jury did not recommend mercy. A reprieve in his case would have been tantamount to a cabinet declaration that the government did not intend to uphold the law which says that murderers must hang. To the very last, however, the condemned man must have been sustained by the vain hope that the clemency extended to so many others would reach out to him also.

The issue is not whether the execution of murderers is right or wrong but of the supremacy of the law. If the government believes that capital punishment should be abolished or that it should not be mandatory in every case—that degrees of murder should be established as in some other countries—it should ask Parliament to modify the law.

The Civic Centre

THE City's idea for a civic centre in the Cathedral Hill area has reached the stage of plans embracing an auditorium and a new city hall. This is the result of special study by the city engineering department with the object of arriving at cost figures and perhaps bringing the project closer to reality.

Of necessity the plans are tentative and first interest may centre in the proposed building design. Not surprisingly it is extremely modernistic. This is the age of such architectural styling and it must be expected that a new civic centre would follow this pattern. Since a new courthouse is definitely in the offing in this location, however, some kinship of style would seem to be desirable. There is the Gothic structure of nearby Christ Church Cathedral to be considered, also, if architectural harmony is to be achieved in this area, or at least not despoiled.

Of more immediate concern is the means whereby the civic centre can be obtained. The auditorium part is a Greater Victoria obligation, even if Saanich officialdom fights shy. An auditorium would serve and be used by all the people of this district. In this connection the mayor's suggestion of a nominal tax levy, which would bear heavily on no one, is well worth exploring. Not so pleasing is Premier Bennett's insistence on federal aid before he keeps his promise of provincial help. There was no string to his original offer and an auditorium is not federal business.

Coupling of a new city hall in the design, ideal in its basic intent, means of course that this phase of the building would have to be undertaken by the City alone. The adjacent municipalities have no obligation in this respect and could not be expected to assume one. The submitted plan is therefore divisive in its financial aspect.

Finance is the crux of the whole problem, and this is what remains to be worked out. The difficulties seem formidable, but that is not to say they cannot be overcome. What is encouraging is that serious study has been given to the whole idea and definite proposals advanced for consideration. In that sense the plans are a step forward, and with close co-operation and good will on the part of all those concerned, something positive may develop at an early date. It is to be hoped so.

Goodwill Ambassador

THE return of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McAdam to make their home on Vancouver Island after a residence in London which began 35 years ago, now has followed the official retirement of Mr. McAdam from the post of B.C. agent-general in the United Kingdom. For two generations of Victorians, many of whom had the pleasure of calling at the Province's headquarters overseas in war and peace, Mr. and Mrs. McAdam's choice will be sincerely welcome.

The man who was "Mr. B.C." at the heart of the Commonwealth for so long, and whose mission was so uniformly and happily successful, may now find that not even retirement can halt a life of service. There is probably no one better posted on United Kingdom affairs in Victoria today. Inevitably Mr. McAdam will be asked for his counsel in innumerable ways; while subtly his role has changed to that of goodwill ambassador and all that is implied in its commercial, social and other relationships with the province.

In war and in peace, British Columbia relied on Mr. McAdam at B.C. House, and meeting that challenge the retiring agent-general was literally a regiment in himself. In the fullest measure his good lady shared in the same self-sacrificing service, and both now are entitled to a playtime that should sparkle in this, the setting of their choice.

Interpreting the News

Domination for Iraq?

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many U.S. government officials have about given up hope the revolutionary government of Iraq can resist Soviet Communist domination.

There is growing fear here that Iraq soon will become a hidden satellite of the Kremlin, if it has not done so already.

Since the Iraqi revolution last July 14, U.S. officials have watched the tide of events in Iraq with growing dismay. Premier Abdel Karim Kassam has become increasingly dependent on, or allied with, Communist support. The British, Turkish and Iranian governments which had persisted in believing Kassam would crack down on the Reds when the time came, now are said to share U.S. pessimism.

Authorities are convinced Egypt's President Nasser has been behind attempts to stage anti-Communist bids for power in Iraq. But he has got nowhere.

Between Nasser and Kassam the U.S. remains neutral. Although Nasser's hostility to Kassam and to Soviet communism in Iraq has softened his attacks on Western powers, he still is not regarded as a dependable friend.

Government experts believe Moscow prefers to move into the strategic oil area in stages rather than in one great advance.

By this theory the first stage was to break the Middle Eastern power of the West. This stage reached a climax with the assassination of King Faisal and other pro-U.S. Iraqi leaders last July 14.

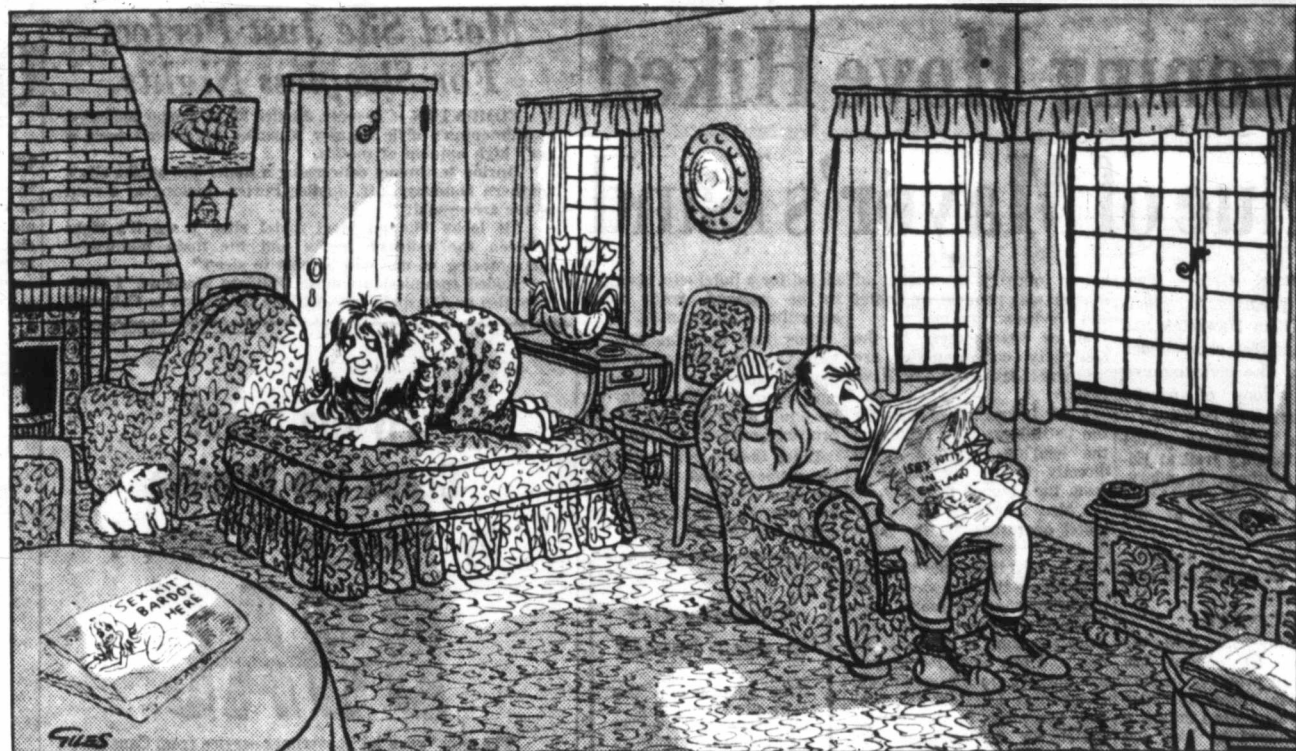

The second phase would be to gain indirect control of a Middle Eastern government as in Iraq.

The third phase would see the establishment of a land bridge. That could only mean trouble of the gravest kind involving Russia, Iran, Iraq and probably Turkey.

Since both Iran and Turkey are in the Middle East defence alliance, and Turkey is a member also of NATO, any such trouble would involve the great powers.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes and ships and sealing wax of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A READER rang me up to say he'd seen a picture of the Queen's sister recently and it was captioned "Princess Margaret of England." He didn't think that was correct. Strictly speaking I don't suppose it is, although it might be true enough that she is "of England."

If a monarchy is of a certain place presumably members of its royal family also have the same connection. Queen Elizabeth, for instance, is Queen of Canada, and on this basis you might term her sister "Princess Margaret of Canada." The nuances of such things don't make this sound quite right, however.

My telephone caller was concerned primarily with the "England" tag, and of course he could put logic to his argument. I couldn't dispute his thesis that Margaret was born in Scotland, that her mother and therefore half her direct blood was Scots, and that on the paternal side she is of German, Stuart, and before that English, stock.

Even allowing for the variegated pattern of the royal lineage, an extremely baffling study for all it might be laid before one's eyes on a documented family tree, or trees, these are substantially the strains that run in her veins.

There is another consideration, of course, to wit: environment. No matter where a person or family comes from, in course of time he, she or it becomes part of the country of residence.

The House of Windsor, for example, is primarily domiciled in England. The Queen is a multiple queen and must find it difficult mentally to adjust herself to her different realms, but probably she thinks of herself as English. Her royal heritage, after wandering on the European continent for some time, returned 200 years ago to England.

There have been certain infusions into the blood royal since then, albeit actually of the same intermingled pattern, but it has stayed there ever since.

The chief domiciliary edifices of the House of Windsor are also in England; rather let me say, lest the word "chief" offends, that the royal family spends more time there than anywhere else. They are an integral part of the English scene.

Constitutionally, there is no Queen of England, per se. In Shakespeare's accepted idiom she is properly titled "Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland." Naturally this does not prevent residents of that compartmented realm from giving her their own titular preference.

Quite frequently one notes Canadian newspapers carrying an item which describes her as "Queen of England" and again, to be precise, this is wrong. In such instances it would be more appropriate, and more accurate, to cite her as "Queen of Canada," or, simply, "The Queen."

That no paper thinks of doing this must indicate that as "Queen of Canada" she is not yet absorbed into the national stream, as it were.

Time magazine has a reference to the coming royal visit which bears on this point. It quotes the aim of tour planners as being to achieve the kind of informality that will express a yearning for a Queen who is a commonplace of life rather than an exotic visitor.

While she is in Canada this summer, however, supposedly no one will make a faux pas with respect to her title, which then assuredly if only temporary in the general sense will be "Queen of Canada."

Princess Margaret will not be alone to confuse the phraseology, title being somewhat more ambiguous in her case.

Unique Constitution

Dominion Needs Wider Powers

By PROF. W. B. HARVEY

THE Canadian Constitution is absolutely unique. In all constitutions known to history, from the 138 examples studied by Aristotle down to the constitution proposed for Cyprus, there has not been one quite like ours.

Canada is now a sovereign state. But if we want to amend our constitution in any important respect we have to get the Parliament of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and part of Ireland to do the job.

Our constitution was drawn up almost a century ago. During that century political, economic and social developments have created problems for the solution of which a strong central government is needed. And we do not have a strong central government. The powers of our federal government are much narrower than are those of other federal governments like those of the United States, Australia or Germany. Let us look at some of the weaknesses.

One of the distinguishing marks of an independent or sovereign state is its ability to carry on its foreign relations — to exchange ambassadors or ministers with other countries, to make war or peace, and to make treaties. When Britain declared war on Germany in 1914, Canada was at war because it was not then a fully independent state. By 1939, we had become independent. We were not legally at war with Germany until our government declared war some 10 days after the British action.

Being an independent state, Canada ought to be able to negotiate treaties with other powers and pass any legislation needed to give effect to the provisions of such treaties. Some of R. B. Bennett's social welfare legislation was passed to implement a treaty. Mr. Bennett, a lawyer of no mean ability, believed that his legislation was valid either under the general powers given the Dominion Parliament to make laws "for the peace, order and good government of Canada" or under the specific provisions of Section 132 of the BNA Act which gave the Dominion government "all powers necessary or proper for performing the obligations of Canada or of any Province thereof as part of the British Empire towards foreign countries arising under treaties between the Empire and Foreign Countries."

When the Act reached the Privy Council that august body got out its legal microscope and declared the Act ultra vires — on the basis of as neat a piece of hair-splitting as can be found in the whole history of constitutional law. The judges actually held that the grant of powers to perform the obligations of Canada "as part of the British Empire" did not give the Dominion government the power to fulfill obligations under a treaty that Canada had made herself, because Canada is no longer part of the British Empire but is an independent country.

The outstanding political development of the century — the change from colony to nation — obviously required an increase in the treaty-making powers of the Dominion government, but in fact resulted in a decrease of those powers. The Privy Council in effect declared that the federal government could not make a binding treaty dealing with any matter coming within the legislative jurisdiction of the provinces.

The chief social development of the century has been the growth of what Sir William Beveridge calls a social conscience and the accompanying social welfare legislation. Mr. Bennett's Unemployment Insurance Act — a measure which obviously should be on a nationwide basis — was declared ultra vires and the Constitution had to be amended to permit a later government to legislate on the subject. The relief of the needy under our constitution is a local and provincial responsibility. During the depression the burden of relief brought several provincial governments to the verge of bankruptcy.

In our economic life, the century witnessed a steady trend towards unification and a great expansion of our international trade. In place of small-scale, local industries we now have Dominion-wide semi-monopolized industry in many fields. Moreover, the head offices of most of our big businesses are concentrated in Ontario and Quebec. Hence the salaries of the chief executives and the bulk of the dividends are paid to residents of Ontario and Quebec. The great corporations act as siphons through which earnings made all over the country are sucked into Ontario and Quebec and become sources of revenue for those provinces.

The depression exposed the inadequacies of our constitution. The Rowell-Sirois Commission studied the problem and in its report suggested far-reaching changes. The opposition of Ontario and Quebec prevented the recommendations from being adopted; and the virtual ending of unemployment by the war and the post-war boom has kept the question from becoming a burning issue.

But the problem remains unsolved. The federal government needs more power, especially the power to control prices and wages. If the thought and emotion that are now being stirred up over the question of a national flag were directed towards reforming our constitution, we should be in a better position to meet the trials that lie ahead.

Cloak of Smugness

Second-Class Citizens

(From The Medicine Hat News)

IN two towns, theatre proprietors instruct their ushers to make Indians sit in a special section of their theatres.

Seventy-five per cent of married couples applying to authorities to adopt children will not accept Indian children.

A group of Indians asked an urban church for the monthly use of a meeting room. The church refused "on the basis that the Indian group might include some undesirable who would not respect church property."

Waitresses in a restaurant near an Indian reserve are instructed not to serve Indians.

Three years ago an Indian family settled on the outskirts of a village. Adult members of the family worked in the village and eventually saved enough money to buy a house. They chose a house in the village and paid a deposit on it. When village residents heard of the sale, they succeeded in making the owner refund the deposit.

"We don't have any Indian problem in this town," said a local official, "because we know how to deal with them."

South Africa? Arkansas? Oh no—Manitoba.

The above case histories are among many contained in a social and economic study entitled "The People of Indian Ancestry in Manitoba." The case histories are so numerous and well documented that they cannot fail to rip the cloak of smugness concerning racial discrimination from the province of Manitoba. And there is no doubt whatsoever that a similar authoritative study would reveal precisely the same attitudes in any other Canadian province.

The situation is, however, especially ironic in Manitoba. Another fact turned up by the investigation is that perhaps as many as one Manitoban in four has some Indian ancestry — even though many such persons would never dream of revealing the fact even to their husbands or wives.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

One thing certain about this business of parenthood is that the way one is persuaded to bring up children today will turn out five years hence to have been wrong.

McPherson gave some advice to his wife when they were expecting visitors to tea. "Just mind, Jeannie," he said, "to put the sugar-tongs in the basin, an' not a spoon."

"But we have no lump sugar in the house," she expostulated. "We've only granulated."

"I was minding that," said McPherson.

A film-star handed a waiter a $20 bill. "Bring me a whisky, and get something for yourself," he said. The waiter brought the whisky and some small change.

"What's the idea?" demanded the star. "I've had only one drink."

"But you told me to get something for myself."

"Well, what did you get?"

"Coupla new shirts."

A critic contends that there are too many murders on TV. But it isn't that so much as the fact that not enough of them occur during the commercials.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

BY now, of course, not hundreds but thousands of families have already been up to their summer cottages to inspect and see what damage the winter, the mice or the porcupines have done to the precious premises.

In fact, thanks to the easy access afforded by modern highways and ever-improving side roads, many a family spends the odd weekend even in the dead of winter at summer cottages. This is a new thing. To be a true summer cottage even fifteen years ago it had to be inaccessible for nine or even ten months of the year. Those reached by water had to wait for first visits until the boat started running. Now you go in a big outboard. Those approached by side road had to await the settling of the frost and the services of the grader before it was comfortable or even safe to attempt the journey.

Within the past ten do-it-yourself years a very large number of old summer cottages have been winterized with fibre board and other linings. New cheap systems of space heating have become popular. The summer cottage is an all-year cottage.

We are witnessing a curious reversal in social history. A hundred years ago the gentry had their homes in the country and kept flats or houses in town to which they came in winter or for business. Everybody is gentry now. And possibly in less than another hundred years everybody will live out where it is worth living and keep flats in town.

Students' Cars

At a time when taxpayers are being asked to pay for parking spaces for students' cars the attached cutting from a recent issue of The Daily Telegraph of London should be of considerable interest.

"The practice of letting children drive their own cars before their high school years are behind them has reached the point where education authorities are beginning to examine the effect of such indulgence on the classroom results. Many schools are advising parents to think twice before permitting their offspring to become car owners."

"The most interesting study made so far was carried out in the state of Idaho. A representative body of students was questioned. In summary these were the results:

"Not a single pupil whose marks were on the 'A' level owned a car.

"Only 15 per cent of the 'B' pupils owned cars.

"But 41 per cent of the 'C' pupils had cars and 71 per cent of the 'D' pupils.

"The most significant aspect of the survey was that 83 per cent of the pupils who failed to pass their high school examinations owned cars.

I would like to see a similar census taken of Oak Bay students at the close of this term.

Market Atmosphere

That which is old is by no means necessarily obsolete. Therefore let us offer a customer's plea towards saving our present public market building, a sturdy edifice with a real market atmosphere.

Ahead of time, it is easy to visualize the sleek, smooth, plastic-wrapped front of long duplicated counters sprayed constantly with chlorinated water towards simulating freshness. At the present time we can saunter through our stalls and select genuine foods. What of the long faithful stall owners themselves: Will they be able to occupy costly new quarters?

Give someone the tools and let them repair the market. There is no reason here for the old to give place to the new. A tremendous renovation can take place both inside and out to increase the charm and convenience of the market building at a comparatively low cost.

On Visit to Victoria

Ex-Coalition MLA Herbert Welch Dies

Herbert John Welch, 64, of Qualicum Beach, a former MLA for Comox and an outstanding civic leader, died Monday while visiting relatives in Victoria.

He was born in New Westminster and educated there and in Victoria. He gave up his studies in medicine at the University of Alberta at the outbreak of the First World War to serve with the 8th Air Force Squadron of the Royal Navy and later with the Royal Air Force.

He was credited with sinking a German U-boat at the mouth of the Tyne after the submarine had come down from Newcastle. He returned from the war temporarily blinded as result of an air-plane crash.

BROKERAGE-FIRM

For a short while, he and Bruce McKelvie of Cobble Hill were partners in a brokerage firm in Vancouver.

He was the originator of the good citizenship medal given annually in Vancouver by the Native Sons of B.C. to a citizen who has done outstanding public service during the year. He suggested the idea in 1931 while he was an active member of the Native Sons.

Mr. Welch moved to Vancouver Island around 1924 and remained in Victoria for several years before entering the lumber business with his former father-in-law, the late William Clark. His first wife, Grace, died several years ago.

MASONIC MEMBER

For the past 25 years, Mr. Welch resided at Qualicum Beach, where he was a member of the local Masonic Lodge.

He was elected as a Coalition member of the B.C. legislature in 1945 and again in 1949. He was a former district governor of Rotary district 152.

A past president of the Qualicum Rotary Club, he played a major role in the construction of the Rotary airstrip at Qualicum. He was the first chairman of Qualicum's board of village commissioners, founder and first president of the B.C. Truck Loggers' Association, president of the Olympic Logging Company.

WED LAST FALL

Mr. Welch was married last November in Vancouver to Mrs. Stella Gummow of Victoria, sister of Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, 19 King George Terrace.

At the time of his death, Mr. Welch was resting at the Scurrah residence, while en route to Qualicum after a major operation in the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn.

DAUGHTER, SONS

Surviving are the widow; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Findlay of Zeballos; two sons, Dr. Herbert C. Welch of the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Bruce E. Welch of Qualicum Beach; a stepdaughter, Mrs. D. K. Crockett, North Vancouver; 10 grandchildren and three step-grandchildren; five sisters, Mrs. W. Carmichael, Mrs. R. McAdam and Mrs. Doris Thomson, all of Vancouver; Mrs. Arthur Gardner of Powell River and Mrs. Carl Ward of Comox.

Funeral services will be held at 2.30 p.m. Friday from the United Church at Qualicum Beach.

Morse vs. Clare Luce

Insults Rock Senate

Both Question Other's Sanity
In U.S.-Appointment Battle

(From AP and UPI) WASHINGTON — Clare Boothe Luce easily won Senate confirmation as ambassador to Brazil Tuesday and almost immediately set off a new uproar.

She and Senator Wayne Morse (Dem.-Ore.), her chief critic, raised pointed questions about each other's sanity.

And in the midst of the storm that followed, her editor husband Henry R. Luce, of Time, Inc., said in New York he had asked her to offer her resignation as a result of Senate criticism.

The storm surrounding the controversial nomination erupted after Sen. Morse charged on the Senate floor that Mrs. Luce had slandered him by saying her troubles began when Morse was kicked in the head by a horse.

Several senators accused Mrs. Luce of going too far, indulging in intemperate language and even invective.

There was no indication of a resignation.

Senate GOP leader Everett Dirksen, who was in touch with the White House, said President Eisenhower felt Mrs. Luce had some provocation for her remark.

Morse, who spoke against Mrs. Luce for three hours and 18 minutes Monday, levelled his new charge shortly after the Senate confirmed her nomination by an overwhelming 79-11 roll call vote.

Morse, who can talk as rough as anyone, responded in the Senate to the latest Luce remark: "This is part of an old pattern of mental instability on her part."

Luce, in explaining his suggestion his wife resign, said she had been vindicated by the vote on confirmation, and added:

"This attempt to destroy a mission was deliberately, cleverly and irresponsibly created by a few angry men who intend at her expense and at the expense of our Latin American relations to settle their little grievances with Time . . ."

Are Our School Children Getting Soft?

A little less mollycoddling and a lot more old fashioned discipline is what Sam Levenson, himself a teacher and TV personality, advocates. He maintains that lack of discipline is responsible for our falling educational standards. Do you agree? You're bound to feel strongly one way or the other when you read this article in this week's Star Weekly.

Also in this week's Star Weekly read "The Bird Man of Alcatraz," the story of the man with the world's longest prison sentence; and "Do nice girls make bad wives?" a study of why seemingly happy marriages break up.

Subs Make Sea Deadliest Enemy

Only Undersea Answer: Pit Killer Against Killer

The sea has become our deadliest enemy. More mysterious than outer space, the vast, uncharted seabed is the lair of the nuclear-powered, missile-launching submarine—a wholly new weapon against which there is no defence.

Running silent and deep, the missile sub can't even be detected.

By the early 1960's Russia is expected to have enough missile subs—each launching some 16 missiles underwater—to level North American urban society.

IMMORAL THEORY

The best way to prevent a missile sub from launching its rockets is to destroy it before it leaves its base, but unless the U.S. accepts completely the "immoral" theory of pre-emptive war, this cannot be done.

So the subs must somehow be found as soon as they leave their bases, tracked all the time they are at sea and destroyed immediately there is any sign Russia has launched a nuclear attack.

This, of course, is impossible. The only way a submerged submarine can be detected is by bouncing sound waves off her hull—the sonar of the Second World War.

VASTLY IMPROVED

But the sonar equipment now used by the Canadian navy is vastly improved. Detections in the North Atlantic of moving submarines are regularly made at two miles.

The ultimate aim in undersea warfare is a system similar to the radar-operated Dew Line for aircraft.

This might be achieved, naval scientists speculate, by some sort of seabed sonar stations, transmitting their signals to a shore-based Sage network.

There then would be a Strategic Submarine Command, employing killer nuclear submarines—generally considered the most effective offensive weapon against enemy subs.

ELDERLY CARRIER

The Canadian navy now has 20,000 personnel, one elderly aircraft carrier, 22 destroyer escorts, 11 of which are of the most advanced type, 18 frigates and an assortment of smaller craft.

We have two operational squadrons of Banshee fighters (16 planes); two squadrons of Tracker airplanes (24 planes) and one squadron of helicopters (six to 10).

The only submarines we have are three on loan from Britain for practise exercises.

Although the navy has several teams studying the possibility of nuclear subs for Canada, the chances of this country building or buying such subs is remote.

FABULOUS SUB

The newer ones, such as USS Skipjack which has a teardrop shape, steers with a joystick and can do a fabulous 40 knots underwater, cost $150,000,000 apiece and we would be even farther out of our league than the Arrow interceptor.

But if the Arrow was not effective against the missile and was therefore killed, how effective is our vaunted destroyer escort at a whopping $64,000,000 apiece against the missile sub?

The answer is: Not very—but nothing will be until the West builds an efficient anti-submarine submarine.

The DE's at least provide a platform for detection equipment as it improves and a launching pad for anti-sub weapons.

TARGET RIDE

The best of these is the M-43 homing torpedo, actually a submersible guided missile which rides a sonar beam to its target.

It works splendidly providing an enemy is not so unkind as to jam it electronically.

In addition to the surface vessels, Canada has an extremely effective ASW, air force arm.

Its principal carrier is the Argus made by Canadair in Montreal. This airplane is generally accepted as one of the finest ASW weapons in the world but neither the British nor the U.S. wants it because it is so expensive to maintain.

But the wide-ranging Argus, working in conjunction with surface vessels and other aircraft completes an effective weapons system against the present submarine threat.

When a sufficient quantity of the new missile subs roam the North Atlantic, it will be another thing entirely.

The Canadian navy sees itself with two functions: a major ASW role and a minor NATO role in demonstrating to our allies we are, in some measure, capable of fighting a conventional war.

But it is the mighty U.S. fleet with its 30 nuclear subs that will have to put up whatever defence is possible against the missile submarine.

AT THE 19th With Harry Young

It would be one of the queer twists of golfing fate if Laurie Kerr turns up as the winner of the Vancouver Island Match Play Championship. He sneaked into the championship on the luck of the ballot after a shaky qualifying round of 83.

Since then, however, Laurie, the only previous winner left, has never looked back. He is playing the kind of golf that made him top man in this district last year and also won him a place on the B.C. Willingdon Cup team.

I would plump for Kerr right away if it had not been for the doubt which always exists about Kerr's performance on the Oak Bay links. It was here that he nearly met his qualifying Waterloo, and it is here again that he has to meet probably his strongest remaining rival, Ron McLeod.

In Sunday's game, McLeod has a psychological advantage in that he likes the Victoria course and plays most of his winter golf there. He is also just about as complete a shot-maker as Kerr, and between the two of them in merit there can be but little difference.

Before the championship started McLeod was the one I thought would be the man to beat, and if anyone is going to do it, it will probably be Kerr on Sunday. Anyway it should be a keen match, and perhaps one of the best in the championship.

The other semi final brings together two Gorge Vale members who play one another frequently, and who both are excellent match players.

John Merriman, the more experienced, is shooting for his second final in succession, while Bill Wakeham, former Canadian champion, and still eligible for that event this year, is trying to shape out his first big local triumph.

It would be a very good thing for the game locally if the youngster won this match, but I have learned never to underestimate Merriman, and I don't intend to do so now.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association says that one of the greatest problems facing golf associations, clubs and golfers is slow play. In 15 years the average length of a four-ball game has increased from 3 1/4 to 4 1/4 hours.

This means that fewer players can enjoy a round in one day," says the report and adds the opinion that players do not derive the same pleasure they formerly did.

The RCGA wants to see the pace stepped up. It has found slow play is largely caused by individual players not being ready to execute shots when it is their turn.

RCGA says it would be helpful if there was some missionary work on the meaning of the rule "players shall at all times play without undue delay"—Rule 37.7.

The governing body has no desire to invoke rules and penalties, but for violation of the rule the penalty is loss of hole in match play and two strokes in stroke play, with disqualification facing the repeated offender.

The RCGA says its committee in charge of RCGA events will not hesitate to apply the appropriate penalty.

Some of our local slow-pokes probably do not realize that slow play is not only a nuisance but also an offence against the laws of the game.

Bill Court, Colwood professional, scored his second hole-in-one last Sunday. Playing with Vic Painter, George Andrews and Joe Evans he holed out at the 154-yard fourth hole with a four iron and playing a ball numbered "4".

"I guess four must have been my lucky number," quipped the pro.

Bill had previously a hole-in-one at the seventh some time ago.

QUALIFYING ROUND for Victoria Golf Club's championship will be played Saturday. "A" section will be for those with handicaps of 12 and less and "B" section for those over 12. Top 16 in each group qualify for championship flights. Gorge Vale has received 70 entries for the club's handicap event which starts Sunday with 18 holes of medal play. President Stanley Haynes presided over the annual general meeting of the Victoria Golf Club Monday, attended by more than 100. Elected to the general committee for three years were Ken Davis, Don Wagg and Keith Olson. Re-elected as vice president was Herbert Morrison and R. E. Bais, captain of the club. George Andrews, who had to give eight strokes to his opponent in the final, won the Royal Colwood handicap event Saturday by defeating Dick Darcus 2 and 1. Lionel Morrison, with a 74, won the Rainbow Cup at Victoria Club Saturday. His handicap gave him a net 64 while runners-up Bill Yardley scored 84-18-66 and Dr. H. Morrow, 88-22-66. Mrs. Doreen Brunsden had low net score of 71 in the qualifying round of the MacPherson Trophy at Royal Colwood. Miss Maureen McKenzie was second with net 76.

Reluctant Bettor Shares $210,000

LONDON (AP)—All his life Charles James resisted the lure of distant riches.

He never joined the millions of Britons who invest small amounts in the weekly soccer pools in an attempt to forecast eight teams that will draw their Saturday matches.

James, 47, who earns £12 a week as a factory worker, finally capitulated and submitted a pools coupon last week.

The result came through Tuesday—a prize of £25,000 ($210,000). James shares the winnings with two fellow workers. They had jointly invested 12 shillings.

Pro Golf's Calcutta Pools Threatened by Golf Group

NEW YORK (AP)—A proposal before the U.S. Golf Association may strike a death blow to big golf tournaments with Calcutta pools, such as the Tournament of Champions last weekend at Las Vegas, Nev.

Joey Dey, executive director of the USGA, said Tuesday the suggestion has been made that players who compete in such events be barred from the national open championship.

"I don't know what action will be taken at our meeting next January," Dey added. "It's a matter for the executive committee. But golf is strongly opposed to any tournaments having the slightest connection with organized gambling."

If such a ban were in effect now, most of the game's top professionals would be affected. The field in the Las Vegas event, consisting of men who have won a sanctioned Professional Golfers Association tournament during the year, read like a who's who in golf. Stan Leonard of Vancouver competed.

Mike Souhak took the first prize purse of $10,000. A syndicate, which bought him for $14,000 in the Calcutta pool, collected $122,300.

The normal procedure is that the player be cut in for 10 per cent of the Calcutta winnings. This means Souhak should have picked up an extra $12,230. Gambling is legal in Nevada.

Dey said: "We are presented with a situation in which a golfer might collect more money by throwing a match than by winning it. I don't say this will happen but it could. And it is dangerous."

Rain Hits Majors; Single Game Played

Rain proved to be the big winner Tuesday, forcing cancellation of five of six scheduled major league games.

Only game that did get played saw Washington trounce Kansas City 8-3 behind the eight-hit pitching of Russ Kreamer.

Kreamer, Kreamer contributed a two-run double in winning his third game against a single defeat.

Washington collected 14 hits off four Kansas City pitchers. Ray Herbert, the starter, was the loser.

Ronnie Samford struck a two-run homer for Washington. Rookie Bob Allison had a triple and a single.

Sunday Sport Jumps Hurdle With Supreme Court Decision

OTTAWA (CP)—Provincial governments may regulate commercial Sunday sport within their own boundaries under the Federal Lord's Day Act, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled Tuesday.

The court in a unanimous decision dismissed an appeal by the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada contesting legislation passed in British Columbia last year empowering the city of Vancouver to allow commercial sport on Sunday between 1:30 and 6 p.m.

Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin rejected the alliance's argument that regulation of Sunday sport, for which admission is charged and performers are paid, is a matter wholly within federal jurisdiction because it involved criminal law.

He also said that the B.C. legislation "governs the conduct of people on Sunday and does not create an offence against the criminal law." The legislation was "within the power of the provincial legislature."

DOES NOT APPLY
Chief Justice Kerwin said that Section 6 of the Lord's

Day Act "provides that if a provincial legislature chooses to permit a certain occurrence, then that section does not apply to the particular province."

Mr. Justice I. C. Rand said that Section 6 declares that in the presence of a provincial enactment the scope of Section 6 automatically ceases to extend to the provincial area covered by that enactment.

Mr. Justice C. H. Locke said "in my opinion the legislation is intra vires in its entirety."

The reasons for judgment referred to numerous other court decisions in support of the ruling that the legislation is within the powers of the B.C. legislature. The case was heard by the Supreme Court Feb. 23-24.

Mr. Allan said: "I must admit that I fail to see the logic of that part of the judgment that I have read. By delegating to provinces the power to set aside Dominion legislation, they (the Supreme Court) have furthered the trend towards a small Ottawa and large provinces.

"It is impossible, I contend, for them to do this under the British North America Act."

Rev. H. T. Allan, secretary of the B.C. Branch, said here "if we can see how to do it, we will follow our former intention to seek amendments to the Lord's Day Act in Parliament."

WINNIPEG — Laurie Langrell came up with his third consecutive two-goal effort here Tuesday night as Winnipeg Braves bounced Peterborough Petes 5-2 and grabbed a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final.

Langrell, the Manitoba Junior League scoring champion this season, also added two assists as Winnipeg blew an early 2-0 lead before rallying strongly to win.

Fourth game of the series goes here tonight with the fifth game scheduled at Brandon Friday.

LEAD ERASED
Bob Rivard and Wayne Boddy scored for Peterborough early in the final period to erase a 2-0 Winnipeg lead.

Captain Wayne Larkin also scored twice for Winnipeg while Al LeBlanc added the other goal.

Lord's Day Alliance Would Change Act

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Lord's Day Alliance, whose appeal against commercial Sunday sport was dismissed Tuesday by the Supreme Court of Canada, said it may seek amendments to the Lord's Day Act in order to escape the ruling.

Rev. H. T. Allan, secretary of the B.C. Branch, said here "if we can see how to do it, we will follow our former intention to seek amendments to the Lord's Day Act in Parliament."

Mr. Allan said: "I must admit that I fail to see the logic of that part of the judgment that I have read. By delegating to provinces the power to set aside Dominion legislation, they (the Supreme Court) have furthered the trend towards a small Ottawa and large provinces.

"It is impossible, I contend, for them to do this under the British North America Act."

Rev. H. T. Allan, secretary of the B.C. Branch, said here "if we can see how to do it, we will follow our former intention to seek amendments to the Lord's Day Act in Parliament."

WINNIPEG — Laurie Langrell came up with his third consecutive two-goal effort here Tuesday night as Winnipeg Braves bounced Peterborough Petes 5-2 and grabbed a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final.

Langrell, the Manitoba Junior League scoring champion this season, also added two assists as Winnipeg blew an early 2-0 lead before rallying strongly to win.

Fourth game of the series goes here tonight with the fifth game scheduled at Brandon Friday.

LEAD ERASED
Bob Rivard and Wayne Boddy scored for Peterborough early in the final period to erase a 2-0 Winnipeg lead.

Captain Wayne Larkin also scored twice for Winnipeg while Al LeBlanc added the other goal.

Peterborough—Goal: DeJordy; defence: Roberts, Foster, Hamilton.

Hershey Bears
AHL Champs

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Hershey Bears won their second straight American Hockey League Calder Cup Tuesday night by defeating Buffalo 5-2 on last-period goals by Ed Stankiewicz, Willie Marshall and Howie Yanosik.

The victory gave Hershey the best-of-seven final-playoff series 4-2 before 7,014 fans.

WINNIPEG — Laurie Langrell came up with his third consecutive two-goal effort here Tuesday night as Winnipeg Braves bounced Peterborough Petes 5-2 and grabbed a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final.

Langrell, the Manitoba Junior League scoring champion this season, also added two assists as Winnipeg blew an early 2-0 lead before rallying strongly to win.

Univac Just Fair As Handicapper

NEW YORK (UPI) — Univac, a multi-million dollar electronic computer, took a slight edge over human handicappers Tuesday in predicting the order of finish of the two Derby Trials at Louisville, Ky.

Both Univac and a consensus of professional raters, however, left something to be desired.

Univac's entry into horse handicapping was announced by the New York World-Telegram and Sun in a copyrighted story. The nearly half-block long "brain" will continue predicting winners through the Kentucky Derby Saturday.

Univac turned its best job of crystal-balling in the second race by naming First Landing and Quattrini to finish first and third respectively. They did. But Univac's choice as runner-up, Our Dad, came in fourth. John Bruce finished second in the race, while Univac had rated the horse as fourth.

Univac hit two other horses on the nose in that race by predicting that Master Palynch would come in fifth, and Steno Bill, sixth, which was correct.

HIT BULLSEYE

Professional handicappers scored a bullseye by nominating First Landing as the winner. Their choices for second and third, Our Dad and Master Palynch, ran out of the money, however.

Univac fell flat on its electronic circuits in predicting the order of finish of the eight horses in the first race—failing to get one selection correct.

Univac saw it as Royal Orbit, Troilus and Open View across the finish line, in that order. The actual finish was Open View, Finnegan and Royal Orbit.

Professional handicappers had picked Troilus as the winner in the first race, Finnegan, second, and Open View, third. Troilus came in fifth.

Univac had been fed scores of racing facts, including such things as past performances and track conditions, to get it in shape as prognosticator.

Shamrocks-Nanaimo Rivalry Renewed in Shrine Charity

The scene is set for tonight's "sneak preview" of the 1959 Inter-City Lacrosse League season as Victoria Shamrocks host arch-rival Nanaimo Labatts in the second annual Shrine Trophy game.

A good crowd is expected at Memorial Arena where coach Norm Baker's Shamrocks will attempt to wrest the trophy from Nanaimo. Nanaimo won the first Shrine game last season.

Regardless of the game's outcome, the big winners will be the Shriners who receive all proceeds. Main portion of the proceeds will go to the Shriners' various charities through Canada and the United States.

Seventeen hospitals for crippled children will be aided by the Shriners.

Everybody — fans, players and press and radio, will pay their own way into the game in an effort to make the evening a success.

Activities begin at 7.30 with a colorful exhibition from the New Westminster Oriental Shrine Band and the Victoria Gizeh Temple Shrine Band.

Intermission entertainment will be supplied by Victoria Girls' Drill Team and 100 members from the Colwood Square Dance Club.

Top door prize will be a three-day, all expenses paid trip to Seattle for two. And there are also 24 other prizes available to the customers through program numbers.

Then too, there's the lacrosse game that will give fans a good indication of how Victoria will stack up against Inter-City League competition this season.

"We're not going to take this game lightly, we open the season Saturday at Nanaimo and I intend to find out just what the boys can do tonight," said an optimistic Baker Tuesday.

"I intend to use all my players tonight. This is more than just an exhibition game as far as I'm concerned."

Meanwhile, Nanaimo coach Don Ashbee was having problems Tuesday—but of a very pleasant nature.

"I've got 22 players from which to choose. Don't think I'm complaining. It's a nice spot to be in," said Ashbee who also announced the arrival of eastern import Gary Moore.

"Moore won't play tonight, but he'll be ready for Saturday's league opener. For that matter, I'm not going to dress tonight as I want to get a good look at my players."

Tickets for tonight's game may be purchased from any Victoria Shiner, or at the Arena. Game time is 8.30.

Lineups:

Nanaimo—Goal, Fred Fulla and A. Shaker; Defence, Skip McKay, Lisle Scott, Ross Roskamp, Bill Bamford, Dave Patterson, Ted Lebeck; Forwards, Don Sherry, Jack Howe, Arnie Dugan, Spud Morrell, Terry Rodway, John Lumley, Norm Kowalyk, Gogie Stewart, Walt Harris, Joe White, Mike Good.

ROTTERDAM, The Netherlands (Reuters)—Manchester United beat the Dutch First Division team Feyenoord, 5-3, in a friendly soccer game here Tuesday night.

Short Circuit Halts Shrewsbury's Chance

LONDON (Reuters)—Shrewsbury Town, battling Exeter City to be the fourth club to be promoted into the English Soccer League's third division, was hit by a blackout in the team's last away game at Watford Tuesday night.

Shrewsbury was leading

Watford 5-2 when darkness brought on a call for floodlights to be turned on. But an electrical fault blacked out the lights and the referee called the game off after 78 minutes.

Shrewsbury, needing the points badly in their race with Exeter for promotion, will have to play the game again. To make matters worse, Exeter won 1-0 at Southport.

Port Vale, Coventry City and York City have already clinched the top three positions in the fourth division to earn promotion.

An iron and steel operation—the basis of a giant complex which will eventually place B.C. ahead of Quebec and Ontario industrially—was born yesterday.

Premier Bennett announced the immediate start of western Canada's first iron and steel smelter at Kimberley. The initial operation, by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company will cost more than $20,000,000.

Extremely low-cost iron ore is the keynote to the proposed new industry.

PRODUCTS REMOVED
It now consists of about 15,000,000 tons of recoverable iron ore from which Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company has already removed three products.

The ore in its virgin state came from the famous Sullivan mine—the world's largest of its type. Its main mineral contents are lead, zinc and iron with smatterings of other more precious metals.

At Kimberley Cominco first floats off the lead, and ships the concentrates off to the company's smelter at nearby Trail. Then the zinc is floated off, and it too is shipped to Trail.

ROASTING PROCESS
Since 1951, the remaining tailings have been utilized further by going through a roasting process. The sulphuric acid produced is mixed with phosphates from Montana, and ammonia from Cominco's plant near Calgary, to give Cominco a valuable fertilizer product.

After the lead, zinc and sulphur have been removed, little more than the iron content is left in the Kimberley tailings, and as Dr. Sargent, of the B.C. department of mines said yesterday "It is almost ready to go into an iron extraction process without further treatment."

LONG-BOUGHT PLAN
For several years Cominco metallurgists and marketing experts have been studying the possibility of putting the Kimberley tailings to the use now proposed for them.

The company reports that the reserves over 15,000,000 tons of recoverable ore have been accumulating for years and the current mine production assures that these reserves will be augmented by about 350,000 tons of iron each year. These sources should keep the planned 135,000 tons a year operation well supplied with raw material for many years. Another important factor for the economy of the district is that the new steel and iron plant will create a new market for the falling Crow's Nest mines which will provide coal, coke and limestone necessary to the process.

PREMIER BENNETT
... sets ball rolling

In addition, the use of electricity for the iron smelter furnace will increase the demand for the hydro-electric power which Consolidated Mining & Smelting extracts from its power plant on the Pend, Doreille and Kootenay Rivers.

The end products of the iron and steel mill will probably be sold in the western Canadian market. The iron ingots could be used at Selkirk and Edmonton steel plants and also by the Western Steel Mills in Vancouver.

The steel products, initially at least, would probably be in competition with the output of the Western Steel Mills, but if the price is right, market experts here feel that there will be room for both.

City Man Admits 12 Charges

Fine of $25 and costs was levied against Robert D. de Kergammeaux, 3061 Albina, in city police court yesterday when he pleaded guilty to 12 counts of giving false information concerning earnings to the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

Court was told the sum involved was about $125, and that arrangements had been made for its recovery. As the offence was a continuing one, de Kergammeaux was fined on the first count and given suspended sentence on the remainder.

In Saanich police court yesterday, Sidney Anderson, 3311 Linwood, was given suspended sentence and placed under a good behavior bond of $250 for six months. He had pleaded guilty to a charge of common assault against his wife.

Money to Make Up 'Mistake in Million'

ALDERSHOT, England (UPI) — The Aldershot city council has promised to compensate Mrs. Ethel Gardner, 80, for practically demolishing her home in "a most regrettable incident, a mistake in a million." The city's demolition crew went to the wrong house.

Business Leaders Hail News

By ALEC MERRIMAN

Premier Bennett's announcement yesterday that construction will begin immediately on a $20,000,000 iron and steel industry at Kimberley was greeted enthusiastically by Harold Husband, president of the Victoria Machinery Depot.

"It's a wonderful first step toward establishment of a fully integrated steel industry on the Pacific coast," Mr. Husband said.

He thought the VMD foundry might have a use at some time for the steel ingots, but pointed out the new mill would not immediately be capable of supplying the steel plates used in quantity by VMD in its shipbuilding and other work.

BASIC MATERIAL

Mr. Husband pointed out the new smelter would provide basic material for use in a steel mill to manufacture plates, bars, angles and shapes.

Western Steel Mills on Twigg Island, near Vancouver, which now produces bar stock, flats, angles, reinforcing rods and similar products is a likely market for steel ingots produced at Kimberley.

The theme of the business community approach to the new industry was set by Albert Reid, secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers Association on Vancouver Island.

A FIRST STEP

"It is a first step in the development of yet another of our natural resources," said Mr. Reid. "We are always anxious to see local processing of our primary materials, and the new plant at Kimberley will increase the labor content in the end product."

Mr. Reid said this would maturity of British Columbia in an industrial field.

"This is the start of a steel industry in British Columbia. I think there will be other steel industries follow," he said. "This will make British Columbia a manufacturing province which in due time will rival and surpass Quebec and Ontario."

TWO YEARS' WORK

The premier said yesterday's announcement was the culmination of two years of discussions and negotiations.

Two years ago the legislature passed an act to encourage establishment of a steel industry in B.C. by offering subsidies.

Fashion Shows Will Be Pretty Fair Bonus

Beautiful bonus for patrons of Junior Chamber of Commerce Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, May 4 to 9, will be nightly fashion shows by 10 finalists (above) in Miss Victoria contest. Commentator for fashion shows will be Mrs. Eleanor Moilliet, who won beauty crown in 1955 as Eleanor Anderson. Winner and her princesses will be announced about 9 p.m. on final night.—(Photos by Campbell Studio.)

Alberni Animal Ban Too Tough—Mayor

PORT ALBERNI—A bylaw prohibiting the keeping of certain animals inside the city limits, introduced at Port Alberni council meeting, was described by Mayor Loran Jordan as "too restrictive."

To come up for reconsideration at the next meeting on May 11 are regulations covering the keeping of horses, sheep, mules, asses, swine, cattle and goats. Mayor Jordan declared that he felt council was going too far in outlawing animals. "I can see no harm in keeping horses, for example, above Anderson Avenue," he said. Ald. W. C. Hamilton also expressed the opinion that there are circumstances under which a householder should be permitted to keep animals. He told council that he had once kept a goat when goat's milk was prescribed for a delicate daughter.

Race Bias Still Rife In Canada

NANAIMO — Canadians have no reason to become complacent about racial discrimination, Dr. W. G. Black, regional liaison officer for the federal department of citizenship and immigration warned here.

We still have a long way to go and a lot of work to do before racial discrimination is solved, he told a Kiwanis Club meeting.

He warned against a false "sense of security" in this country because of comparisons with situations in the United States and South Africa.

"Some clubs in B.C. will not even admit to membership native Indians, East Indians or Orientals," he said.

Duncan May Launch All-Out War on Dogs

DUNCAN—City council is contemplating "all-out war" against dogs "on the loose." "I love dogs, and have nothing against them, but it appears the city needs a clean-up," Mayor Jack Dobson said. "I think we should give them the works," said Ald. Steve Saunders, who, with the rest of the council, approved the suggestion by the mayor.

City clerk Gordon Berry told the council Monday night he had received two complaints that day. Ald. John Kerrone said he saw 10 dogs on the Cowichan High School grounds recently.

"We've sure had troubles with them in our area," said Ald. James Saunders, who lives at Coronation and Trunk Road.

"People don't seem to realize we have a leash law," said Mayor Dobson. "When a dog is off the owner's property it must be on a leash and under control."

Big Slice of Cake Eats Up Profits

NANAIMO — This city lost approximately 20 cents a pound on its famous 10,000-pound centennial year celebrations cake.

Cost of the cake, billed as "the largest in the world" and one of the sights viewed by Princess Margaret on her B.C. tour, cost more than $17,000 to create.

Sale of centennial souvenir pieces of the cake brought in an amount in excess of $15,000 — a loss of approximately $2,000.

The centennial committee report presented to city council showed the celebrations cost the city more than $9,000 — approximately $4,000 over the anticipated $5,200 budget.

Outstanding Job Saluted

By B. C. HAMILTON

FULFORD HARBOR — A salvage job considered one of the most outstanding marine efforts in years, has just been completed off South Salt Spring Island, by the team-work of Captain George McRae, of the tug "Kansas," of Vancouver, and John Higgins, owner and operator of a derrick-scow.

They raised the sunken hull of 42-foot fishing drager sunk in 62 fathoms of water, just off Isabella Point, after the vessel had been on the bottom for nearly three months. It was during the height of the fishing season last January, when the "Karmsund," owned by Ole Vea, of Vancouver, tipped over when a heavily-loaded drag-seine was being hoisted aboard.

The fishery cruiser "Atlin Post" was nearby, and took the men off and attempted to tow the sinking vessel nearer land, but it sank about half a mile off shore.

For several weeks, fishing packers and seine boats tried to raise the "Karmsund," but were unsuccessful. Two salvage boats made the attempt also, but gave up after a fruitless three weeks.

Then Captain George McRae, of the tug "Kansas," and Mr. Higgins of Vancouver, made a "no cure, no pay" agreement with the owner of the sunken vessel.

After three weeks of effort they found the wreck by dragging wires along the bottom with a scoop, and were able to sweep steel wire cables under the bow and stern, making both ends fast to the derrick scow, and then slipping a big steel shackle down the wires in order to form a loop over stern and bow.

These cables were then made taut and the vessel hoisted by winches, and gradually moved in towards shore.

Three days from the time they had located the "Karmsund," the fishing boat was lifted to the surface, towed into Fulford Harbor, beached behind the ferry locks and pumped out.

Big, New Smelter Won't Help Island

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said yesterday the new steel smelter that is to be built at Kimberley will have no effect on Vancouver Island iron ore. (See opposite page.) "It wouldn't be feasible to move Vancouver Island ore to the interior," he said. "It would be prohibitive from an economic standpoint."

He said Vancouver Island will most likely continue to ship its iron ore to Japan. But, he thought the steel produced at the Kimberley operation will be competitive in price to the steel from Japan.

Tories Back CNR Drive To Attract U.S. Industry

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Hees Tuesday denied that a CNR campaign to woo U.S. industry to Canada is contrary to government policy.

The campaign, by letter, to selected executives of U.S. firms, seeks branch factories near CNR lines.

Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) asked how this can be reconciled with government policy against too much U.S. domination of Canadian industry.

Mr. Hees replied the government has never opposed U.S. industry coming here to employ Canadians and raise living standards.

Defence Minister Pearkes says the federal government still is trying to find "some useful purpose" for five completed Arrow jets.

Paul Hellyer, former Liberal associate defence minister, started debate by asking Prime Minister Diefenbaker to "intervene and save" the only Mark II Arrow near completion but Diefenbaker brushed aside the appeal.

Hellyer asked that Mark II be used to win the world air speed record for Canada.

Instead of going to the scrap heap with the others.

Extraordinary economic recovery and not errant government policy has produced current monetary conditions throughout the country. Finance Minister Fleming told the Commons.

'Dial 999 in Crisis' Plan to Be Probed

Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee yesterday delegated the mayor and three Reeves to look into the possibility of the B.C. Telephone Co. providing a single emergency telephone number, such as 999 or 0.

Reeve A. C. Wurtel of Esquimalt said the Esquimalt police commission had first discussed the idea. (It has since been taken up in Central Saanich and Oak Bay.)

Coun. F. A. Robinson of Oak Bay suggested that "0" would be a better number than the 999 used in England. Cost of having operators on duty 24 hours a day to direct the calls to the right emergency departments, he said, could hardly be more than about a cent a month per resident.

Shrum, Counsel Clash

Probe Statements 'Little One-Sided'

Doubt Cast on Evidence Of 'Involved Parties'

By IAN STREET

Dr. Gordon Shrum clashed sharply with counsel for the British Columbia Power Commission during yesterday's hearings of the royal commission probing operations of the publicly-owned utility.

The royal commission, appointed last December 11, will wind up its hearings here today at the Empress Hotel.

The royal commission chairman took issue with statements made during summing-up of the BCPC submission that:

1. Purchase of four gas turbine units for Georgia thermal station near Chemainus was a "carefully considered decision of the Power Commission, fully concurred in by the consulting engineers";

2. These gas turbines "were not in any sense experimental."

Dr. Shrum said in his view the statements were "a little bit one-sided."

Based on Evidence

Counsel for the Power Commission said the statements were based on evidence heard by the royal commission. They quoted evidence given by the consulting engineer on the Georgia thermal project, and a representative of the turbine manufacturers, Canadian General Electric.

Dr. Shrum said: "I'm not certain the members of the royal commission are prepared to accept the evidence of two such interested and highly involved parties. This is an inquiry after facts. Are you supporting them or just reporting evidence?"

Improvements Needed

Main reason for the delay, BCPC officials pointed out, was that manufacture of wheels in the gas turbines had to be improved after construction of the units had commenced.

"It wasn't an accident," said Dr. Shrum. "It was due to lack of knowledge with regard to a unit of this size."

"Are we to be castigated for dealing with a responsible company?" said Mr. Guild. "Canadian General Electric had the equipment we needed. The metallurgical problem came right out of the blue. No one anticipated it."

Dr. Shrum said the royal commission consulted three outside experts who were of the opinion BCPC would have been justified in experimenting with one untried gas turbine unit, but four units were not justified.

"I don't say we should castigate anyone for this," the chairman said. "We just want to get the facts straight." "We understood," said Mr. Guild, "that we were buying something on the market, something which had proven itself."

'Should Have Found Out'

He said BCPC officials weren't told that Canadian General Electric had never built a gas turbine unit of the size required for the Georgia plant.

"That is what you should have found out when your engineers were carrying out what you call a careful study before making the important decision to spend $15,000,000 in a matter of weeks," said Dr. Shrum.

Two of the main points dwelt on by the investigating commission were overspending of some $2,500,000 on the original estimates of $13,300,000 for the Georgia thermal station; and $16,000,000 over- spent on the Strathcona development where costs soared to $35,000,000.

BCPC in its submission yesterday said there is no evidence before the Shrum commission that would suggest any error of judgment, either on the part of the Power Commission or its consulting engineers, which contributed to the final cost of the Strathcona project.

Air of quiet enfolds Victoria harbor and legislative buildings in this special aerial shot taken by Colonist photographer Jim Ryan from a hovering Vancouver Island Helicopters Ltd. aircraft. Tourist influx to the

Keeps Promise

Years have not diminished interest taken by war flying hero Group-Capt. Douglas Bader in men who flew with him, or families of those lost. Keeping promise made two years ago, Bader flew to Victoria yesterday with his wife for luncheon date with Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. S. Latta, 182 Beach. Their son, FO John Latta, DFC, was killed Jan. 12, 1941, while flying Hurricanes under Group-Capt. Bader. (Colonist photo.)

Joint Effort For Hall? Too Early

The mayor wants to be sure about details of building a civic auditorium as a Greater Victoria project, he said yesterday.

He said further studies of possible uses and revenue prospects would have to be before a proposal could be put before the Greater Victoria municipalities.

Design for an auditorium and city hall, drawn by assistant city engineer Roderick Clark, was submitted to the mayor and released at the weekend.

Cancer Diagnosis Topic for Today

Cancer diagnosis will be discussed by Dr. Ross McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee Hospital, at a meeting of the Victoria Unit, Canadian Cancer Society, today at 8 p.m. in the medical lecture room of the hospital.

Oak Bay, Esquimalt Hang Back

Juvenile Court Idea Stalled

Oak Bay and Esquimalt representatives hung back yesterday from the idea of endorsing establishment of a unified Greater Victoria family and juvenile court.

The intermunicipal committee failed to reach a conclusion on the matter, but decided to look into the question of provincial and municipal responsibility.

Linked with the proposal to establish a family and juvenile court with adequate probation facilities was the proposal that a more adequate juvenile detention home should be provided in Greater Victoria.

Glen Hamilton, secretary of the Community Welfare Council, told the committee the council gave establishment of a unified family and juvenile court top priority among the community's social needs.

He said such courts were regarded as the cornerstone for an attack on juvenile delinquency.

David Woodsworth of the Family and Children's Service told the committee he regarded establishment of a court as urgent.

Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said, however, that his council had come to the conclusion that the population was not large enough to justify a family and juvenile court, and that the present juvenile court arrangement was satisfactory.

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich said he was sure his council was in favor of having a unified family and juvenile

Edgelow Calls Meeting

Action Follows 'Manners' Gibe

Criticism of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow's "municipal manners" has prompted Greater Victoria Celebrations Association to call a full-scale airing of its affairs and invite all four municipal councils to attend.

Ald. Edgelow, committee chairman, said the meeting will be called within a few days to "clarify matters" and try to encourage more interest from Greater Victoria municipalities.

He denied writing a personal letter to Reeve A. C. Wurtel deploring Esquimalt's small contribution to the celebrations fund.

"I appreciate criticism when it is fair and constructive," he told members of the committee. "In this case it was completely erroneous. I neither dictated nor signed the letter which was supposedly written."

Ald. Edgelow said when he

Shipyard Layoffs To Exceed 400

More than 400 ship builders will lose their jobs within the next two months.

At least 100 men have already been laid off at Yarrow's shipyard and another 150 will leave their jobs next week, general manager John Wallace said yesterday.

The 600 employees now at Victoria Machinery Depot will be cut to 400 as soon as the naval vessel Terra Nova is completed, "probably within a month," a spokesman said.

Last year at this time 900 men were working at VMD.

Both companies said they are trying to keep their key men on the job.

Many Teachers 'Deficient'

Scarfe Agrees With Trustees

A charge that "many teachers from the University of British Columbia or its college of education are deficient in knowledge, ability and maturity" drew surprising agreement yesterday from Dean Neville Scarfe of UBC's college of education.

But, Dean Scarfe emphasized, he felt the charge was leveled at students who did not complete the degree-granting courses offered at UBC.

The charge was contained in a brief submitted to the Chant royal commission on education by the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

"Those who come from us after one or two years ARE, in our view, deficient in knowledge, ability and maturity," he said.

"The college of education was set up for people to get a university degree," he continued. "I don't think they are referring to anyone who gets that degree."

"Maybe they are simply saying the college of education doesn't have them long enough."

Dean Scarfe defended the action of school boards in appointing the alleged "deficient" teachers by pointing out there was little choice at times.

"They have to take whom-ever they can get, unless they want to close the schools," he said.

Open Sept. 15 or 20

Work on Market Begins May 15

Actual construction of a $4,000,000 shopping centre at Hillside and Shelbourne is expected to begin about May 15.

Project manager Herbert E. Baker said yesterday.

The announcement followed an angry demand for an early start on the centre by Jack Driscoll, business agent for the electricians' union. Many members of the union are unemployed.

Construction of 1,000 feet of six-inch culvert along Shelbourne Street started this week.

Reeve A. C. Wurtel of Esquimalt said he believed city council felt the same way.

The committee accepted an Oak Bay proposal on the juvenile detention home and voted to pass it on to councils that plans be prepared for a new one, with provision for adequate segregation and security, and that the province be asked if it would pay half the cost.

Kiwanis clubs of Victoria and Berkeley, Calif., had a joint meeting yesterday—more than 1,000 miles apart.

Linked by microphone, telephone and loudspeaker, the two clubs exchanged greetings

Local Bid Will Win Only If It's Lowest

Local firms submitting tenders to municipalities should not receive preference if their bids are higher than others, Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee decided yesterday.

The committee recommended to Greater Victoria councils that they follow a policy of accepting the lowest bid in each case, "everything else being equal."

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich, asking for the committee's thoughts, reported that one local bidder had expected a percentage allowance because failure to get a con-

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I never dreamed one day I'd be writing to you for advice, but you seem to have pretty good answers for others. Perhaps you can help me.

I've been going with a man my own age (50) and I strongly suspect he'll ask me to set the date soon. We get along beautifully and our grown children (by former marriages) are the best of friends.

One thing about him bothers me and I don't know if I should mention it while we're "dating" or wait till we're married. The man is not a millionaire but he enjoys good food and orders extravagantly with no regard for price. But — when it comes to leaving a tip for the waiter he figures (with a pencil) 5 per cent of the check and leaves the exact amount, to the penny.

I find this embarrassing. Shall I say something or wait?

— HALLIE

Dear Hallie: Don't wait. He needs educating NOW. Tell the Last Of The Red Hot Spenders that the 5 per cent tip went out with spats. The going rate is now about 15 per cent.

He Drinks Too Much

Dear Ann: I'm dating a very nice boy who is 18. He's wonderful in every way, but he drinks. He doesn't drink when he's with me because he knows I don't like it. But he drinks when he's with others. I know this for a fact.

This fellow could really amount to something someday. He's smart, has a wonderful personality and he's ambitious. But I'm concerned about his drinking. The big obstacle is his parents who seem to encourage him. They've offered him drinks in my presence. He always refuses because he knows how I feel.

I've seen his father a half dozen times and he's always somewhere between "high" and "plastered". His mother is never without a glass in her hand.

My friends tell me I'm "stuffy" — that most kids have had something to drink at one time or another and they didn't die from it. Can you say something on this subject? I seem to be pretty much alone in the crowd. — MISS BLUE

Dear Miss Blue: Tell your friends that most kids have had the flu at one time or another, too, and they didn't die from THAT either, but this doesn't mean it's good for 'em.

No teen-ager needs liquor for any reason whatever. It has never been known to do them any good. There's plenty of evidence that it can do lots of harm.

Don't become serious about a boy thinking you can change him. You're a young girl, not a reform school. One day he may change himself. Tell him if and when he does, to look you up.

Live in a Pig-Pen

Dear Ann Landers: My son married a girl who considers herself highly intellectual, but she doesn't know enough to clean up her house.

My home was always immaculate. A person could eat off the floors. It must break my son's heart to live in a pigpen after the bringing up he's been used to. He never complains, but I know how he must feel inside.

My daughter-in-law has two children, six and four. She was saying last night she'd love another baby and may "surprise us all" one day soon.

This burned me up. She never gets her washing and ironing done as it is, not to mention cleaning. I don't think such a woman should consider having another child until she organizes her household. I've never had any real trouble with her, but a mother can stand by only so long, without saying something. Am I right?

— B. L.

If it's real trouble you're looking for, just tell your son's wife not to have any more babies until she organizes her household. I guarantee you'll get it.

If her untidy home upsets you, stay away. Your son isn't complaining. I suggest you take a cue from him.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' new booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

But grooming and manners do meet — head on. Let me give you an instance:

When a girl goes to school with her hair in a tousled mass, she is badly groomed and badly mannered, too. Her appearance is an affront to her classmates and teachers. For it reflects a total disregard of their good opinion. The implication is far more insulting than rudely spoken words.

So you see, good grooming is as vital to good manners as to good looks. It actually offers you a two-way edge on attractiveness. You are easy on the eye and on the ego, when you are well-turned out.

If that's for you, here's what you do: ask your mirror if your manners are showing — for better or worse?

Brien-Reifel

Twin Sisters Attend Bride

Twin 13-year-old sisters Jan and Judy Reifel were the only attendants at their sister's wedding in Nanaimo recently.

Their sister, Elinor Jean, was married to Clifford Frank Brien in a ceremony in St. Andrew's United Church.

Miss Reifel's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Reifel, of Nanaimo, and her groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Brien of Cedar, B.C.

For the double-ring ceremony, the bride chose a gown of imported lace fashioned in ballerina-length over heavy taffeta. A small jewelled head-dress held her shoulder-length veil which was appliqued with sequins and pearls. She carried flamingo-toned roses, white stocks and stephanotis, carried out in her sister's dresses which were ballerina-length frocks of embroidered nylon. Both carried bouquets of white marguerite daisies, carnations and stocks.

Best man was the groom's brother, William Brien and ushers were Con Reifel, Allan

Husband and David Alexander.

Mayor of Nanaimo Pete Maffeo, was master-of-ceremonies at a reception at the home of the bride's parents and Dr. Lang Giovando, the bride's godfather, proposed the wedding toast.

The couple will live in Nanaimo.

The Bird Man of Aleatraz

It is 25 years since Robert Stroud last spoke to a woman. 42 since he ate with another human. He has been in jail since 1909, in solitary since 1920. How does a man like this survive? How has he kept his sanity during a lifetime cut off from the world? Read the fascinating story of the man with the world's record prison term in this week's Star Weekly.

Also in this week's Star Weekly read "Are our school children getting soft?" in which a teacher examines the effects of modern education; and "Do nice girls make good wives?" — a study of why seemingly happy marriages break up.

Leaving for London

Mrs. Edith Magrath who leaves shortly to make her home in London, Ontario, was guest-of-honor Saturday evening at a dinner party at the Empress Hotel given by Mr. and Mrs. George Hinch and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Standbrook. Also present was Mr. E. B. Hamilton of Dawson Creek, B.C. Prior to the dinner Mrs. Magrath was presented with a gift from those attending the party.

Wayne Charles Christened

The four-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Monty Jasper was given the names Wayne Charles at a Sunday christening at Oak Bay United Church, conducted by the Rev. A. Calder. The child wore a christening robe made by his maternal grandmother and previously worn by his mother. Maternal grandparents are Major and Mrs. E. King and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. Gladys Jasper. The baby's aunt, Mrs. A. Sutcliffe from North Surrey, B.C., and great-aunt Mrs. J. Johnston, North Vancouver, came to the ceremony. Following the ceremony the baby's parents entertained at their home on St. Ann Street.

Nurses Entertained at Tea

Mrs. H. H. Youson was hostess Sunday afternoon at the tea hour at her home on Richmond Road to honor the 1959 graduating class of Royal Jubilee Hospital of which her daughter Barbara is a member. Nursing school colors in red and white carnations in a silver bowl and white candles in silver holders, centred the tea table where Mrs. W. G. Thorpe, a member of the hospital board, and Mrs. H. J. Armitage, Miss Youson's grandmother, presided. Assisting in serving the more than 40 guests were Miss Marion Matcham, Mrs. P. S. Ballam, Mrs. L. C. Baird, Mrs. H. S. Crawford, Mrs. G. L. Brown, Miss Marie O'Neill and Miss Joan Youson. Among guests were Miss Mary L. Richmond, director of nursing, Mrs. Agnes Ault, director of education in the school and Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Johnston.

Garden Notes

Masking an Eyesore

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

About a year ago, one of my good friends came to me for advice on a rather unusual landscaping problem.

He has a piece of riverside property up-Island with a charming cottage, where he and his family spend their weekends during the summer months. He is a busy professional man and his children are all in school, so they get to enjoy the charms of their rustic cottage only on Saturdays and Sundays, with the occasional long holiday weekend.

With only a few precious hours each week, and with the counter-attractions of fishing, boating and swimming, nothing very much gets done in the way of prettifying up the place with shrubs or plants. Watering would be quite a problem in any case.

The river view from the screened verandah in front of the cottage is out of this world. The view from the kitchen and back porch is almost as thrilling, with a dramatic background of mountains, but for an obtrusive feature in the immediate foreground—the outdoor biffy. What could I suggest to mask the eyesore?

The soil is thin and hungry, and not very much of it overlying the rock. None of the lovely flowering shrubs or evergreens I would like to plant could possibly survive without devoted nursing through their first summer, for even subjects with a reputation for survival in drought need a little help while becoming established. A dry summer and Monday-to-Saturday neglect would finish them off for sure.

My thoughts turned to vines, and for a while I thought of covering a screen with the ubiquitous bindweed, our common wild morning glory, until I remembered that this pest is a contrary critter. It will never grow where you want it to—only among your most precious plants.

Our solution was a simple one. We stuck a line of bushy dead branches into the ground in front of the offending biffy, pushed a few seeds of ordinary climbing nasturtiums into the soil at their base, and that was that. After the vines had made some growth, we picked up a few flat stones along the river bank and put them down over the roots to conserve moisture. They bloomed their heads off all through last year's hot, dry summer, with no wilting or flagging at all, and with absolutely no attention except a couple of buckets of water on weekends.

Only one pest turned up, and that was the black aphid—the same one that attacks the tips of our broad beans—And where it came from in that wild place, I haven't the foggiest idea.

Spraying isn't any good at all with nasturtiums, for they have waterproof leaves and it is impossible to wet them. Instead, I lent my friend a plastic squeeze bottle filled with rose dust, and he tells me that just two or three squirts did the trick. Next morning there were no more aphids.

Conversation Piece

By Rudolf Flesch

Banana Peel Still Tickles

What makes people laugh?

Steve Allen, in one of his recent articles in Look, puts it this way: "I long ago came to realize that we laugh loudest and longest over incidents which we either experience or observe; the funniest things are not jokes we hear on the radio or incidents we see on movie screens, but the real-life social faux-pas, slips of the tongue, accidents, fumbblings and bumbblings that amused men for thousands of years before anyone thought of being funny on a professional basis."

He's right, of course. The eternal joke is when someone slips on a banana peel or inadvertently says "birds and goats." All the world's gag files are as nothing compared to the unprepared, spontaneous, gift-from-heaven kind of humor. People will laugh when something genuinely funny happens in front of their eyes; they may or may not laugh when a comedian does a routine.

Television right now is on a jag of conversation programs. It's natural. It had to come. Why should we be content with having professional funnymen do their stuff if we can have the real thing—a bunch of bright people chatting, joking, swapping funny stories that actually happened, and letting cheerfulness break in by itself?

I am, like millions of other volunteer insomniacs, a Jack Paar fan. And I like the show best when someone says or does something totally unexpected, out of the blue, simply in response to the situation.

The ultimate in humor, to my mind, is the spontaneous flash of non sequitur that bubbles up in the mind of a true comic genius. Like the story of Robert Benchley and the davenport.

When Benchley was 19 years old and a freshman at Harvard, he was walking with a friend on Boston's staid, elegant Beacon Hill. Suddenly he said to his friend, "Let's get the davenport." They picked a house at random, rang the bell, and said to the maid who opened the door, "We've come for the davenport."

The maid said, "Which one?" and Benchley, pointing to a davenport in the hall, answered, "That one." They picked it up, carried it across Louisburg Square, rang the bell of another house and said to the maid who opened the door, "We've brought the davenport. Where shall we put it?" The maid looked bewildered, pointed to the sitting room and said, "There, I guess." They put it down there and left.

Claude's Class Reunion

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—When Claude Rains arrived in Hollywood for the premiere of Universal-International's "This Earth is Mine," in which he stars, he got together for the first time in 25 years with Sir Laurence Olivier and Charles Laughton, working in "Spartacus." Claude taught Olivier and Laughton the mechanics of acting at the famous Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in England.

Dorothy Dandridge started her "Scent of Danger" movie with Trevor Howard in London this week. Every weekend during filming, Dorothy plans to fly to a different European capital for trousseau buying and sight-seeing.

The Kingston Trio, who made the song "Tom Dooley" famous, will be on the screen soon, says agent Jimmy Saphier. The boys, all college graduates, are 25, and they're all married.

Richard Arlen, veteran movie star, plays an imposter on the CBS Yancy Derringer show, "State of Crisis," tomorrow.

Stanley Holloway, so good as Alf Doolittle in "My Fair Lady," will be leaving the London cast before the end of this year.

One of the jewels recovered for Lauren Bacall by Scotland Yard is a heart-shaped gold pendant, set with diamonds and inscribed "To Baby with my heart, Bogey."

It's amazing that Elizabeth Taylor should have wanted the same suite at the Dorchester Hotel in London for her honeymoon with Eddie Fisher, where she loved and fought with Mike Todd during the summer before he crashed to his death in a plane. I believe Fisher is glad the suite was unavailable. He never calls her Liz, by the way—always Elizabeth.

Nanette Fabray is sitting on one of television's most fabulous deals which calls for her to do five spectaculars for a number of years, and millions and millions of dollars are involved.

Mike Wallace is coming to Hollywood to tape some TV shows with "bright, articulate names."

Today's Intercollegiate Championship deal is a trap for automatic finessers. After North's overall of two hearts, East's best choice is to give partner a single raise. Thereafter, because of his singleton heart, West should try for game.

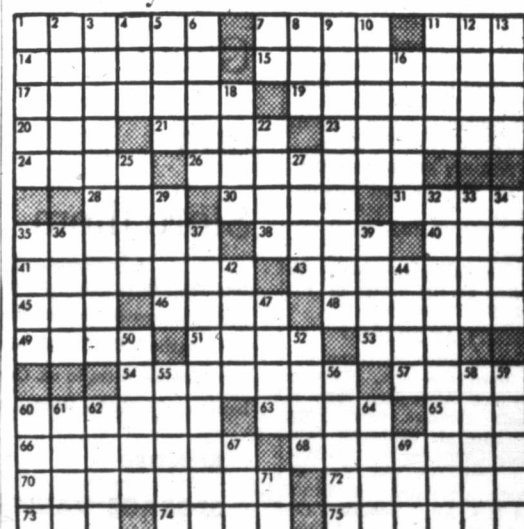

It would be fatal if West, on winning the ace of clubs, should lead the spade queen.

(Although it must be confessed that on this particular deal some case can be made out for that play if declarer fears that South began life with only two clubs and three trumps). With a sure trump loser in a holding of this kind, however, the best play is to lead low to the ace—and, in this case, that technique is rewarded with the appearance of North's singleton king.

Now West can make the hand in several ways. Simplest is to let the king hold: ruff a third round of clubs in dummy if that suit is continued; then cash the spade ace. The diamond jack puts declarer in to draw the rest of South's trumps, and unless the opponents have paused to gather in their ace of hearts, declarer makes five odd.

Declarer can win the king of spades with dummy's ace, lead to his diamond jack, and then play up to his heart king. No defense can prevent declarer from ruffing one losing club in dummy and discarding another on the heart king—assuming that North has taken the heart ace. If North ducks the heart, West can afford to surrender a club instead of the heart trick. (East should lead the spade queen, West par: Make a game.)

Canada's New Approach

New Search Starts For Cheap A-Power

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has decided to adopt a second approach in its search for cheap electricity from atomic power.

Atomic Energy of Canada Limited announced Tuesday that it has awarded a $600,000 contract to Canadian General Electric Company Limited for a design, study and development of a new type nuclear power station particularly suited for the Arctic.

The new reactor will be known by the code name OCDEU—Organic-Cooled, Deuterium-moderated Reactor Experiment.

The Crown-owned company, operator of Canada's atomic project at Chalk River, Ont., has been concentrating on the development of what is known as a natural uranium heavy water power plant.

Instead of using heavy water as the heat transfer agent, the new reactor will use an organic liquid.

Heavy water still will be used as the moderator or control agent and the fuel will be natural uranium.

Company officials said Canada also is interested in developing small atomic power plants for export to power-hungry countries. The new approach might make this possible.

Indians 'Soft-Soaped' For Lack of Treaty

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A director of the Native Brotherhood of B.C. Sunday told a provincial conference of Indian chiefs here only in British Columbia have Indian lands not settled with treaties.

Guy Williams said that in the prairie lands had been settled with treaties and today treaty money is paid.

He said the government of Canada was embarrassed by the situation and as a soft soap offered B.C. tribes $100,000 a year. But the Indians had not received all that was promised.

"To get our rights we have to have unity among all the bands, otherwise our efforts will be a waste of time," he said.

Dr. Peter Kelly, a United Church minister, told the meeting that the Indians had never been properly compensated for the loss of their land. He said unlike other parts of Canada the problem had not been dealt with by a judiciary body.

Explosive Fireball A Meteorite

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (CP) — South African astronomers expressed doubt Monday that an explosive fireball that dashed across the sky here could have been a man-made satellite.

It almost certainly was a meteorite, said Dr. W. S. Finsen.

"Because of their high velocity—much higher than artificial satellites—meteors give a great display of light from friction with the earth's atmosphere," Finsen said.

Observers said the fireball seemed to explode just above the earth and then hit the ground with a roar.

Search parties failed to find any trace of it.

One official said the object may have been Discoverer II, the satellite expected to plunge to earth around that time.

Vancouver Gets Jets to 'Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Qantas Airways has announced that it will begin the first pure-jet passenger service between San Francisco and Vancouver on Aug. 21.

The Australian airline said Boeing 707s would fly the route in two hours and five minutes. The one-a-week service will also introduce the first commercial pure-jet to western Canada.

Arrow Workers Flocking to U.S.

TORONTO (UPI) — Former Avro Aircraft and Orenda Engines employees, laid off after the cancellation of the Arrow jet program and unable to get jobs in Canada, are flocking to the United States.

Figures from official sources indicate that more than 1,000 have applied for U.S. visas, with more to come.

DANISH CO-OPS

Dairies and bacon factories, among Denmark's largest industries, are nearly all cooperative undertakings.

Obscenity Attacked

Toronto to Outlaw 'Girlie' Magazines

TORONTO (CP) — A drive to remove all "girlie" magazines from Metropolitan Toronto stores was promised Tuesday by Magistrate C. O. Bick, chairman of the Metro police commission.

He made the statement shortly after another magistrate ruled in court that four British magazines which displayed photographs of semi-nude girls are obscene. A mid-town tobacconist was fined a total of $100 and costs on four charges of selling obscene literature.

Magistrate Bick said he could see no reason or purpose in sale of the magazines. He said the problem of getting rid of them had been complicated by a "vagueness in the Criminal Code in defining obscene literature."

Tuesday's ruling, he said, "gives us freedom to operate." Morris Singer, 57, was charged on a complaint by Ross Whitcher, Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for Bruce, who said he shopped for indecent magazines and decided four he bought at the Singer store were the worst.

At the hearing last week crown attorney Lloyd Craburn said the photo magazines—Kitties, Kintentials, Lovelies, Line and Form No. 21 and Line and Form No. 22—emphasized the bosoms of women. He said they were obscene for the sake of obscenity, "an invitation to immorality."

CRISIS FOR THE CROSBYS

The boys turned a mixture of fast-paced cars and Las Vegas night life into fuel for front page scandal. The father married a girl 30 years his junior and surprised his sons with a mother their own age. It isn't the same family any more. It isn't even a pleasant picture any more. How did it happen? Who is to blame? Where do they go from here. Get May McCall's... on sale at all newsstands now.

Firemen Give In, CNR Strike Off

Union Got Little

OTTAWA (UPI) — The firemen's union last night gave in to the Canadian National Railways on the diesel issue, thus averting a nation-wide strike called for later in the week.

Labor Minister Michael Starr announced settlement of the lengthy dispute at 10:10 p.m. (EDT) after two days of discussions with CNR president Donald Gordon and W. E. Gamble, Canadian head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The CNR president's outline made it clear that the railway had scored an almost complete victory. It marked the second straight defeat for the firemen who lost a similar battle to the CPR a year ago.

On the main point of the dispute—a CNR decision to begin Friday the gradual elimination of firemen from yard and freight diesels—the railway won a complete victory. The two sides agreed, however, to meet a Kellock Royal Commission and Federal Conciliation Board report recommendation that, while the railway will hire no new firemen for this purpose, none of the 2,800 now on yard and freight service will be fired.

The CNR yielded to some extent in the battle over "arbitrariness" time spent working on diesels before and after runs. The railway will in future pay such work on a minute-to-minute basis instead of the flat rate now in effect.

The one real concession made the union was in regard to wages. The wage increases will total 9.5 per cent as offered previously by the railway, but more of the increases will be granted immediately than previously were offered.

'Golden Age' For B.C.

Golden age of industry opened for B.C. yesterday with announcement by Premier Bennett that giant iron and steel smelter was to be built at once at Kimberley. Eventually, said Mr. Bennett, B.C.'s industrial potential will surpass that of Quebec and Ontario. (Full details on page 10.)

U.S. LEADERSHIP SUSPECT--MONTY

Demands U.S. Blood At Start of Next War

NEW YORK (UPI) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery told Americans yesterday that their soldiers were expected to stay in Europe as "hostages" to prove that American blood will be shed on the first day of the next war.

"If there should be a rough-house in Europe, the United States must be in it from the word go, not like's happened in the past," Montgomery said. "In other words, American blood must be shed on the first day."

MacARTHUR PRAISED

On the program, Montgomery praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "far and away the best service chief that America produced in the Second World War."

He said Eisenhower, as supreme allied commander in Europe, apparently did not understand the allied Normandy battle plan after he approved it.

"That's one of the mysteries of the war, to me, why it was he didn't understand it," Montgomery said.

The general also said that Eisenhower's leadership as president had been impaired by poor health.

JOB FOR FRENCHMAN

Montgomery proposed that the supreme commander in western Europe, who heads the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, should be a French general with a German under him. The present leader is an American.

He also suggested that the chief NATO power be placed in the hands of the political head, the secretary general, instead of the top military men.

"I think that history is going to say the United States leadership has been very intermittent in its pulsations, not not been as good as it might be," he said.

RATHER 'SUSPECT'

"Perhaps there's been a lack of decision in the top level. Anyhow, I think you've got to admit the fact, right or wrong, that American leadership of recent years, has been rather suspect."

He said someone should come forward and serve as "a sort of moral broker" in international affairs. That, he said, is what Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is trying to do.

Montgomery went at some length into the health of U.S. leaders.

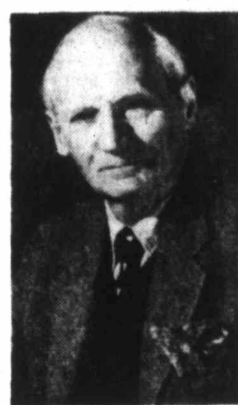

"Mr. Dulles, whom I . . . like very much indeed . . . he's in the hospital with cancer."

BETTER ON CRUTCHES

"Your president has had three very serious illnesses—very serious."

"The head of your state department, today, (Christian A. Herter) walks about on two crutches."

"I know, awfully well, from my life as a military person, that you can't win battles—unless you are feeling very well. It can't be done."

LORD MONTGOMERY

Lands Hatless

Moscow Mission Begins

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery arrived Tuesday night on a self-appointed mission-to-Moscow and was immediately informed he will meet Premier Khrushchev this morning.

He stepped off a Russian plane from Paris hatless and dressed in an old British army overcoat. He spent five minutes at the airport in light-hearted badinage with his wartime comrade-in-arms, Marshal Vassili Sokolovsky, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces.

A harried British embassy official injected the only rough note when he asked Montgomery for his passport.

Montgomery waved his hand and admitted, "I don't have it."

Montgomery and Sokolovsky arranged to meet this morning but plans were changed after a British embassy official whispered in Montgomery's ear: "You are seeing Khrushchev in the morning."

Montgomery is here for three days to study the East-West conflict.

"I want to talk to these people and see what they think of it all," he announced on April 4. "I know what the West thinks. We cannot go on living in this state of tension."

RIO DE JANEIRO — High Brazilian officials say they see no reason why Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce should resign as ambassador to Brazil because of attacks on her by U.S. senators. (See Page 5.)

TOKYO — The Chinese Communists claim to possess "incontrovertible evidence" that the Indian border town of Kalimpong was the command post for the Tibetan revolt.

WASHINGTON — Council of the 21-nation Organization of American States voted unanimously to support Panama in repelling an invasion force.

VANCOUVER — The British Columbia Chamber of Commerce says it will ask the provincial government to repeal income taxes on logging and mining operations and taxes on iron ore in the ground.

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Magistrate John F. MacDonald Tuesday reserved judgment after hearing final testimony in the trial of Cmdr. George M. Waddis, charged with theft of a $450 pump while he was commander of the nearby Point Edward Naval Base.

Cmdr. Waddis pleaded not guilty to theft of the pump from a reserve fleet coastal escort in 1958. He also entered a not guilty plea Tuesday to a charge of stealing a refrigerator door. Hearing of the second charge will continue today. No plea has been entered on a third theft count.

Defence counsel Roland Ritchie of Sydney said in his summation that none of the 16 witnesses said anything that "even remotely linked Waddis with the theft of the pump."

"The fact that it was later discovered in the custody of Waddis," Ritchie claimed, "in no way indicates he was responsible for its theft."

Canada May Store Atomic Warheads

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada-United States discussions aimed at agreement on storage of American nuclear warheads in this country now are in progress, it was learned Tuesday.

Officials said it probably will be several weeks, however, before the talks reach cabinet level and an agreement is signed.

Though Canadian armed forces will be supplied with nuclear weapons, the ownership and custody of the warheads will remain with the U.S.

This in turn may lead to a small increase in the number of American servicemen stationed in Canada. They now number approximately 8,000.

The U.S. is expected to bear the cost of the warheads, estimated at about $100,000,000.

The nuclear warheads are intended primarily for use in the American Bomarc anti-aircraft missile scheduled to come into operational use with the RCAF in 1961.

But the warheads also will be for the American Lacrosse ground-to-ground missile for the Canadian Army, a few of which are scheduled for delivery this year.

Case in Supreme Court

Was Sommers 'Official' or Not?

OTTAWA (UPI) — Legal counsel for Robert Sommers maintained before the Supreme Court of Canada yesterday that there is no Criminal Code section under which the former British Columbia forest minister can be charged with accepting bribes.

Lawyer J. R. Nicholson told the seven presiding scarlet-robed justices that a "most exhaustive search" of records disclosed no case of a cabinet minister being convicted of bribery during the past two centuries.

Nicholson made the appeal at a last-ditch hearing to get the bribery and conspiracy convictions of Sommers and timber executive H. Wilson, the lawyer replied.

Mayor Makes Haul

EDMONTON (CP) — Mayor William Hawrelak told the Porter commission Tuesday that he and his family have acquired a total of 2,550 Alberta Gas Trunk Line shares.

(See also Page 3)

Testifying before the civic inquiry into charges of maladministration, Mr. Hawrelak said he did not think there had been a restriction on the number of shares allotted to each buyer.

The largest single allotment to the Hawrelak family—340 shares—came through the main branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada.

Mr. Justice M. M. Porter, who is conducting the inquiry, said he recalls the allocation was determined by dividing the number of available shares by the number of applications. This resulted in a "figure of 20 or 25 or something of the sort, so that when you were applying you had no idea what you were going to get and no one had any idea of what they could give," he said.

'Dial 999 in Crisis' Plan to Be Probed

Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee yesterday delegated the mayor and three Reeves to look into the possibility of the B.C. Telephone Co. providing a single emergency telephone number, such as 999 or 0.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said the Esquimalt police commission had first discussed the idea. It has since been taken up in Central Saanich and Oak Bay.

Coun. F. A. Robinson of Oak Bay suggested that "0" would be a better number than the 999 used in England. Cost of having operators on duty 24 hours a day to direct the calls to the right emergency departments, he said, could hardly be more than about a cent a month per resident.

Shrum, Counsel Clash

Probe Statements 'Little One-Sided'

Doubt Cast on Evidence Of 'Involved Parties'

By IAN STREET

Dr. Gordon Shrum clashed sharply with counsel for the British Columbia Power Commission during yesterday's hearings of the royal commission probing operations of the publicly-owned utility.

The royal commission, appointed last December 11, will wind up its hearings here today at the Empress Hotel.

The royal commission chairman took issue with statements made during summing up of the BCPC submission that:

1. Purchase of four gas turbine units for Georgia thermal station near Chemainus was a "carefully considered decision of the Power Commission, fully concurred in by the consulting engineers";

2. These gas turbines "were not in any sense experimental";

Dr. Shrum said in his view the statements were "a little bit one-sided."

Based on Evidence

Counsel for the Power Commission said the statements were based on evidence heard by the royal commission. They quoted evidence given by the consulting engineer on the Georgia thermal project, and a representative of the turbine manufacturers, Canadian General Electric.

Dr. Shrum said: "I'm not certain the members of the royal commission are prepared to accept the evidence of two such interested and highly involved parties. This is an inquiry after facts. Are you supporting them or just reporting evidence?"

C. K. Guild, appearing for the Power Commission, said manufacturer and consulting engineer in the view of BCPC officials "were completely honest in their representations and statements of what occurred and why."

He added: "As far as we are concerned we have interpreted evidence heard by the royal commission."

"We must reconcile the evidence with the facts," retorted Dr. Shrum. "These (gas turbine) units were ordered for 1957. Now in 1959 only one out of four is in operation."

Improvements Needed

Main reason for the delay, BCPC officials pointed out, was that manufacture of wheels in the gas turbines had to be improved after construction of the units had commenced.

"It wasn't an accident," said Dr. Shrum. "It was due to lack of knowledge with regard to a unit of this size."

"Are we to be castigated for dealing with a responsible company?" said Mr. Guild. "Canadian General Electric had the equipment we needed. The metallurgical problem came right out of the blue. No one anticipated it."

Dr. Shrum said the royal commission consulted three outside experts who were of the opinion BCPC would have been justified in experimenting with one untried gas turbine unit, but four units were not justified.

"I don't say we should castigate anyone for this," the chairman said. "We just want to get the facts straight."

"We understood," said Mr. Guild, "that we were buying something on the market, something which had proven itself."

'Should Have Found Out'

He said BCPC officials weren't told that Canadian General Electric had never built a gas turbine unit of the size required for the Georgia plant.

"That is what you should have found out when your engineers were carrying out what you call a careful study before making the important decision to spend $15,000,000 in a matter of weeks," said Dr. Shrum.

Two of the main points dwelt on by the investigating commission were overspending of some $2,500,000 on the original estimates of $13,300,000 for the Georgia thermal station; and $15,000,000 over-spent on the Strathcona development where costs soared to $35,000,000.

BCPC in its submission yesterday said there is no evidence before the Shrum commission that would suggest any error of judgment, either on the part of the Power Commission or its consulting engineers, which contributed to the final cost of the Strathcona project.

Joint Effort For Hall? Too Early

The mayor doesn't want to go off half-cocked about building a civic auditorium as a joint effort for the Greater Victoria project, he said yesterday.

He said further studies of possible uses and revenue prospects would have to be made before a proposal could be put before the Greater Victoria municipalities.

Design for an auditorium and city hall, drawn by assistant city engineer, Roderick Clark, was submitted to the mayor and released at the weekend.

Cancer Diagnosis Topic for Today

Cancer diagnosis will be discussed by Dr. Ross McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee Hospital, at a meeting of the Victoria Unit, Canadian Cancer Society, today at 8 p.m. in the medical lecture room of the hospital.

Oak Bay, Esquimalt Hang Back

Juvenile Court Idea Stalled

Oak Bay and Esquimalt representatives hung back yesterday from the idea of endorsing establishment of a unified Greater Victoria family and juvenile court.

The intermunicipal committee failed to reach a conclusion on the matter, but decided to look into the question of provincial and municipal responsibility.

Linked with the proposal to establish a family and juvenile court with adequate probation facilities was the proposal that a more adequate juvenile detention home should be provided in Greater Victoria.

Glen Hamilton, secretary of the Community Welfare Council, told the committee the council gave establishment of a unified family and juvenile court top priority among the community's social needs.

He said such courts were regarded as the cornerstone for an attack on juvenile delinquency.

David Woodworth of the Family and Children's Service told the committee he regarded establishment of a court as urgent.

Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay said, however, that his council had come to the conclusion that the population was not large enough to justify a family and juvenile court, and that the present juvenile court arrangement was satisfactory.

Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich said he was sure his council was in favor of having a unified family and juvenile court, and Ald. Geoffrey Edge- low said he believed city council felt the same way.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said he was not too certain that a family court was necessary or advisable.

The committee accepted an Oak Bay proposal on the juvenile detention home and voted to pass it on to council; that plans be prepared for a new one, with provision for adequate segregation and security, and that the province be asked if it would pay half the cost.

Mr. Westwood said he would send out an engineer

Harbor Quiet Before Storm of Tourist Season

Air of quiet enfolds Victoria harbor and legislative buildings in this special aerial shot taken by Colonist photographer Jim Ryan from a hovering helicopter. But it's the calm before the rush. Tourist influx to the city starting next month will add crowds to the scene and thousands will pack lawns before the buildings to greet Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip when the royal couple arrives this summer.

Around the Island

Duncan Shops Around For New Sewage Area

DUNCAN — City council members are planning a visit to Port Alberni next month to survey the park site and draw up plans for development and disposal field.

"We're getting along with ours now, but not for long," said Mayor Jack Dobson.

Council is "shopping around" for a 30-acre disposal field here to improve the present system, he said.

Third reading was given at the council meeting for a red and amber flashing light at Kenneth and Craig.

"I don't think it will do away with accidents at that corner but I guess it is worth a try," commented Mayor Dobson.

The light will be red to east-west traffic and amber to those heading north or south.

PORT ALBERNI — A new schedule of per capita grants payment by the provincial government has placed Port Alberni in an economic strait-jacket, Mayor Loran Jordan declared at council meeting, here.

He said that a recent order-in-council scheduling the grants in nine equal payments has definitely made things a little grimmer for the city.

"We can't get on with our work," he said.

He deplored "order-in-council government" he said, "I can't understand how municipalities can carry on as long as things can be changed by six cabinet ministers in Victoria."

Council decided to ask for special consideration of grant payments to Port Alberni in view of the fact that high assessment figures involved in the fixed assessment agreement here has put the city in a "unique position."

PENDER ISLAND — Earle C. Westwood, minister of recreation and conservation, explored the 50-acre Prior Park site here. He was accompanied by his deputy minister, Dr. D. B. Turner, and the director of parks, H. C. McWilliam.

The party crossed over from Canoe Cove in a fisheries department launch, and drove across both Penders, leaving later in the day from South Pender wharf.

Mr. Westwood said he would send out an engineer from their parks planning division as soon as possible to survey the park site and draw up plans for development and disposal field.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prior donated the land for a public park.

DUNCAN — Centennial Height property owners who bought lots Saturday and started clearing them Sunday have already "run afoul of the law."

Several started burning brush and left the fires unattended to burn all night, said Mayor Jack Dobson.

Mayor Dobson said a CMHC planner has suggested what type of house be built on each lot, and where it should be in the federal-provincial 45-acre subdivision on the city's western boundary.

NANAIMO — Alderman Douglas Greer has suggested that Nanaimo city council take action against "litterbugs" who continue to dump garbage in areas other than at the city dump.

He said it was a disgraceful situation and asked what the city police committee take note.

A get tough policy on litterbugs should be started, members of the council agreed.

DUNCAN — City employees are gathering estimates for work that could add considerable color to Kinsmen Park.

Council members have discussed painting the pool blue, the apron around it red, metal swing parts aluminum and the tables green.

PARKSVILLE — Less than a dozen local residents turned out for public meeting to discuss the forthcoming plebiscite for funds to provide a new hospital at Nanaimo. Taxpayers will go to the polls April 30 to vote on the issue.

A charge that false propaganda had been given out last year prior to the forming of the hospital improvement district, which takes in the area from Cedar, south of Nanaimo, to north of Qualicum Beach, was made by Mrs. D. E. Priestman of Qualicum Beach.

Inequity of taxation and inequity of representation for School District No. 69 was alleged by Mrs. Priestman who said that legally there is no representative for this area as the trustees were appointed by Nanaimo.

Gordon Frith, hospital administrator, said he felt that if better facilities were available at Nanaimo more residents of this district would go there.

Colin Cameron of the hospital improvement district board said it was hoped to have better representation from this area in the future.

DUNCAN — A 17-year-old girl was placed on three months' probation yesterday in juvenile court for failing to yield the right-of-way Sunday at Trunk Road and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Police said she turned left while proceeding east and struck an oncoming car.

Peter Daniels, a local new car dealer, was fined $10 in police court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of using a trailer without a trailer licence April 14 on the Trans-Canada Highway.

GANGES — F. A. E. Morris was re-elected president at the annual meeting of the Salt Spring Island Rod and Gun Club, held in the Mahon Hall, Ganges.

Other officers are Inspector R. Sinclair, BC game department, honorary president; R. H. Lee, vice-president; executive committee: L. Anderson, Mrs. J. Bennett, A. M. Brown, D. G. Crofton, K. Dadds, Mrs. C. Houghton, G. S. Humphreys, V. L. Jackson, L. Lauretzen, L. G. Mount, M. Munro.

A motion was passed that in future the salmon derby would be held from annual meeting to annual meeting and that the derby prizes would be presented on that day.

NANAIMO — Jim Quinn has been named chairman of a committee formed by the Kiwanis Club to administer the senior citizens' housing development in Nanaimo. The project was taken over by the Kiwanis Club a short time ago.

UCLUELET — Lyall Peterson, Ucluelet, was fined $100 by Magistrate Joseph Webb in police court here for supplying liquor to an Indian.

NANAIMO — Plans are well started for the annual Rotary-sponsored soapbox races on May 18.

At least 45 entries from Chemainus to Port Alberni are expected to compete.

David Woodley, Chemainus, was Vancouver Island's representative at the provincial finals at Mission last year. The young lad also won a trip to Akron, Ohio, to take part in U.S. 66th competition.

Chairman of the races again this year will be Gene Koster, assisted by Len Lovick.

NANAIMO — A cheque for $1,250 has been received by the Kiwanis Club for the sale of deer hides. Members of the club collect hides from throughout the area each fall and sell them to tanneries. The amount collected this year is more than double the amount collected the year before.

Flames Don't Mean Fire Port Alberni Warned

PORT ALBERNI — "Don't turn in an alarm if you see flames shooting from the smoke stack of the foundry," was the advice given by Ald. J. R. Dalton at council meeting.

He said that it is normal for the chimney top to become red hot and for flames to issue several feet when the foundry is melting iron. Residents of the area have, apparently, not realized that there is no cause for alarm and, in consequence, the fire department has repeatedly been called to the scene.

CNR Strike Off

OTTAWA (UPI) — The firemen's union last night gave in to the Canadian National Railways on the diesel issue, thus averting a nation-wide strike called for later in the week.

Labor Minister Michael Starr announced settlement of the dispute after two days of discussions with CNR president Donald Gordon and W. E. Gamble, Canadian head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

The CNR president's outline made it clear that the railway had scored an almost complete victory. It marked the second straight defeat for the firemen who lost a similar battle to the CPR a year ago.

On the main point of the dispute—a CNR decision to begin Friday the gradual elimination of firemen from yard and freight diesel—the railway won a complete victory. The two sides agreed, however, to meet a Kellock Royal Commission and Federal Conciliation Board report recommendation that, while the railway will hire no new firemen for this purpose, none of the 2,800 now on yard and freight service will be fired.

The one real concession made the union was in regard to wages. The wage increases will total 9.5 per cent as offered previously by the railway, but more of the increases will be granted immediately than previously were offered.

Leadership 'Suspect'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery told Americans yesterday that their soldiers were expected to stay in Europe as "hostages" to prove that American blood will be shed on the first day of the next war.

"If there should be a rough-house in Europe, the United States must be in it from the word go—not like it happened in the past," Montgomery said. "In other words, American blood must be shed on the first day."

Montgomery was interviewed by Edward R. Murrow and Charles Collingwood at the 72-year-old Second World War hero's home in Hampshire, England, before leaving for Moscow on a private visit.

MacARTHUR PRAISED

On the program, Montgomery praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur as "far and away the best service chief that America produced in the Second World War."

He said Eisenhower, as supreme allied commander in Europe, apparently did not understand the allied Normandy battle plan after he approved it.

"That's one of the mysteries of the war, to me, why it was he didn't understand it," Montgomery said.

The general also said that Eisenhower's leadership as president had been impaired by poor health.

JOB FOR FRENCHMAN

Montgomery proposed that the supreme commander in western Europe, who heads the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces, should be a French general with a German under him. The present leader is an American.

He also suggested that the chief NATO power be placed in the hands of the political head, the secretary general, instead of the top military men.

"I think that history is going to say the United States leadership has been very intermittent in its pulsations—it has not been as good as it might be," he said.

RATHER 'SUSPECT'

"Perhaps there's been a lack of decision in the top level. Anyhow, it's I think you've got to admit the fact, rightly or wrongly that American leadership, of recent years, has been rather suspect."

He said someone should come forward and serve as "a sort of moral broker" in international affairs. That, he said, is what Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is trying to do.

Montgomery went at some length into the health of U.S. leaders.

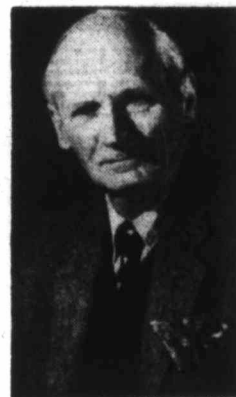

"Mr. Dulles, whom I . . . like very much indeed . . . he's in the hospital with cancer."

HERTER ON CRUTCHES

"Your president has had three very serious illnesses—very serious."

"The head of your state department, today, (Christian A. Herter) walks about on two crutches."

" . . . I know, awfully well, from my life as a military person, that you can't win battles unless you are feeling very well. It can't be done."

LORD MONTGOMERY

Moscow Mission Begins

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery arrived Tuesday night on a self-appointed mission to Moscow and was immediately informed he will meet Premier Khrushchev this morning.

He stepped off a Russian plane from Paris hatless and dressed in an old British army overcoat. He spent five minutes at the airport in light-hearted badinage with his wartime comrade-in-arms, Marshal Vassili Sokolovsky, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces.

A harried British embassy official injected the only rough note when he asked Montgomery for his passport.

Montgomery waved his hand and admitted, "I don't have it."

Montgomery and Sokolovsky arranged to meet this morning but plans were changed after a British embassy official whispered in Montgomery's ear: "You are seeing Khrushchev in the morning."

Montgomery is here for three days to study the East-West conflict.

Man Found In Car, Dies

Harold Albert Johnson, 224 Simcoe, found unconscious in his car at 11.15 last night, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital, but it is believed he was dead on arrival.

Police found the man, about 42, slumped over in the front seat of his car which was parked in the 200 block of Ontario Street.
